Seventh and eighth grade pupils of the Fairfax School District moved into the new $300,000 White Hill School this morning. Marines Driven Back In Attack On Citadel

Red General's Body Found, Saigon Says

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. and South Vietnamese Marines launched a ground assault against strong enemy forces inside the walled Citadel at Hue today, but heavy small-arms, machine-gun and rocket fire drove them back.

The North Vietnamese troops fought from gun-pits burrowed deep inside the grimy black stone walls of the inner Citadel in the former imperial capital 400 miles northeast of Saigon.

AP photographer Al Chang reported from Hue that the sky had cleared after two weeks of monsoon rains, but no air support was flown for the Marines today. Air strikes had been flown against enemy positions in the Citadel yesterday.

"Where the hell is our air support?" one Marine asked Chang bitterly after the costly, unsuccessful assault on the Citadel's inner walls. "We are being chopped up." Some sources said bombs and rockets were withheld in trying to spare Citadel art treasures.

On the south bank of the Perfume River in Hue's modern quarter the Americans had regained control, and the population crept out of refugee camps and shellmarked homes to bury the dead in hastily dug graves —often in shell holes.

PLANE DOWNED

Military spokesmen said the Communists yesterday shot down a South Vietnamese Air Force A1 Skyraider bombing and strafing the Citadel. The pilot parachuted unhurt and the plane crashed outside the city.

U.S. B52 bombers joined the massive operation to wipe out Communist troops still entrenched around Saigon. The big Stratofortresses hit closer to Saigon than ever before—seven miles.

National police announced that Maj. Gen. Tran Do, second highest ranking North Vietnamese military officers in South Vietnam, was killed in the Saigon fighting recently.

The militantly antigovernment Buddhist movement centered in Hue was accused of collaborating with the invading Communists by Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa, the provincial chief. Phan, who hid in a hospital attic during the Communist siege, said the large Tu Dam pagoda five miles northwest of the city was the Red command post for the attack. U.S. sources confirmed this.

KHE SANH

To the northwest around the embattled Marine outpost of Khe Sanh, an armada of U.S. warplanes including B52 heavy bombers continued to plaster suspected North Vietnamese buildup areas threatening the base.

No new ground attacks on Khe Sanh have been made since last Thursday, but incoming shells continue to kill or wound Marines daily. Six more Leathernecks were wounded yesterday during a barrage of artillery, rockets and mortar.

Over North Vietnam Monday, a U.S. F4 Phantom jet fighter blew a Communist MIG21 interceptor from the sky north of Hanoi with an air-to-air missile, the U.S. Command accounced.

SECRET EMISSARY?

LBJ Bids Hanoi Open Peace Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says despite the massive Communist offensive in South Vietnam he will halt bombing of the North, start peace talks tomorrow and let the enemy "write the agenda" —if Hanoi doesn't try a double-cross.

This was Johnson's off-the-cuff reaction yesterday when one of 11 college student visitors at the White House argued that campus antiwar demonstrators "are not just the unwashed" but include brilliant young people.

ENVOY RUMORED

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski D-Ill., earlier told a Chicago audience a presidential emissary was in Hanoi to discuss a possible bombing halt and negotiations to end the war when Communists attacked the U.S. Embassy in Saigon last month.

Pucinski said: "As a matter of fact, the U.S. had to stop the bombing of Hanoi to assure safe passage for the emissary," whom he declined to name.

But he said the emissary was still in Hanoi "as far as we know and he may still be talking to the North Vietnamese."

The White House and State Department declined comment.

LBJ'S STAND

Johnson said he thought he understood youthful Vietnam dissenters—"none of us want to die"—but declared "we have gone just as far as decent and honorable people can go" to seek a Vietnam peace.

Despite the bloody fracture of the planned Tet truce, Johnson said of the Communists:

"We would meet then tomorrow. But we are not going to surrender. We are willing to reason. We are willing to talk. We are willing to let them write the agenda and say, 'Here are the first subjects you talk about.'"

White House officials made it clear later the United States would expect to cover its own preferred topics later in any negotiations.

But he added some qualifications inherent in his earlier utterances on the subject: Talks would have to be prompt, productive and—in effect, he addressed Hanoi directly—"you will not take advantage like you did in the Tet."

'SACRED DAY'

Johnson, reaffirming and possibly broadening by a fraction his earlier-stated San Antonio formula for peace talks, said his 1967 offer along much the same lines was answered with the Communist offensive during the Tet New Year holiday—"a sacred day"—against 44 cities and 24 U.S. air bases.

Despite that, he told the students, Hanoi needn't fuss about semantic niceties in its public pronouncements but simply say, "Geneva is the place and tomorrow is the time."

U.S. Rushing 10,500 More Men To War

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The United States is rushing 10,500 additional combat troops to South Vietnam, the Defense Department announced today.

The announcement said the troops were being sent in response to a request by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, American commander in Vietnam.

Officials refused to identify the units involved or even to say whether they included both Army and Marine troops. Based on earlier Westmoreland requests, however, they may be airborne outfits.

Asked whether Reserves might be called up to replace them, a Pentagon spokesman said no decision had been reached on that subject.

The spokesman said the men were being sent "for insurance purposes" in the wake of the current countrywide Communist offensive.

They will increase the total of U.S. troops in South Vietnam to 510,500. But for the time being, at least, the total authorization of 525,000, which was to have been reached later in the year, will remain the same.

Phil G. Goulding, assistant defense secretary and the pentagon's chief of information, conceded that the units now being rushed to the scene include some men being sent to Vietnam for the second time.

The units were believed to have been specified by Westmoreland as best suited for his present needs and are being sent without taking time to weed out those who are veterans of Vietnam.

MARIN'S POVERTY WAR

Agency Overlap; Plans Conflict

By DAVID DIETZ

(Second of three articles)

The idea behind a community action program, said the federal Office of Economic Opportunity when it opened in 1964, is to pick target areas (pockets of poverty) and to get churches, schools and private agencies — along with government and its employment services — working together.

Marin County has seen little of this harmony.

Programs have started here and there — in school districts, employment centers and county offices — but coordination is weak. Moreover, various agencies shoot at the same targets, wasting time.

JOB SEEKERS

"We're not an employment agency," says Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, "but we have people come to our office looking for jobs."

That fact, according Thompson, points up a failure of the California State Employment Service.

AGENCIES DUPLICATE

The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, established to direct community action against poverty, wants more jobs for Negroes in Marin City, thus duplicating a major aim of the human rights commission. The EOC says improved public housing is the key to Negro hopes in Marin City, but the council's area director may bump into a man from the housing committee of the human rights commission on his rounds.

"Public and private programs have suffered from a lack of coordination," says Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, with headquarters in Marin City. The lack of communication fosters rivalries and over-lapping of programs."

Stutsman, in a report to the human rights commission last summer, recommended that directors of various service agencies meet occassionally and that members of these groups circulate to other meetings. These suggestions were widely neglected.

UNGUIDED MAZE

There is a maze of job training and placement services, with little central direction. Three school districts — Tamalpais, Novato Unified and San Rafael — have programs to give struggling students work experience or to give them odd jobs to keep them in school. Similar aims are championed by the Neighborhood Youth Corps, a huge federal program.

A work-study program is run by the county schools office. The College of Marin has a variety of vocational programs for its students. A work-training program is operated by the county Department of Public Social Services, using federal Economic Opportunity Act funds.

The state employment service in San Rafael has facilities to test, counsel, screen, retrain and place job applicants. The Bay Area Urban League, using U. S. Department of Labor and United Bay Area Council money, arranges on-the-job training. A pre-appreticeship training program is planned through the human rights commission and the Building and Construction Trades Council of Marin.

NEW PROJECT

A "new careers program" to expose members of minority groups to teaching, medicine and social work has begun through the Sausalito Teacher Education Project, sponsored by San Francisco State College with a $300,000 federal-state grant. Future teachers from the college also come to Richardson Bay School to learn more about instructing minority students.

The EOC says it has begun the job of program coordination and weighing community needs. The council — made up of the poor and representantes of business, the clergy and government —

Wilson Sees 'Narrow Gap' On Peace Talks

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House of Commons today that only "a very narrow gap" remains to be bridged between the United States and North Vietnam to get peace talks started.

Wilson went before the house following talks with U.N. Secretary General Thant on the Vietnam war.

He noted that he had just conferred with Thant over lunch and said:

"There is a very narrow gap to be bridged now—very narrow indeed."

He said this slowly and with great emphasis.

Thant arrived yesterday from Moscow where he discussed Vietnam with the three top Soviet leaders.

It was recalled that Wilson used virtually the same phrase when he returned from talks in Moscow last month.

"The gap to be bridged between the U.S. position and that publicly set out in recent North Vietnamese statements is narrow, whatever the difficulties presented by the last fortnight's fighting," Wilson told the house.

Fresno Pair Flees; Tale Of A Slaying

COTTAGE GROVE, Ore. (AP) —Two Fresno men were hunted today in brushy hill country where they fled yesterday in an exchange of gunfire.

The chase began after a girl said she had been abducted by two men.

A warrant charging assault with intent to kill, as a result of the exchange of shots, was filed today by Dist. Atty. John Leahy against George Ira Donnell Jr., 19, and Rodney Joe Harrison, 18.

State police and sheriff's deputies patrolled roads, checked cabins and hiked through woods.

The chase began soon after Mrs. Allan Sherman, 18, Eugene, reported she had escaped from two men who said they had killed a policeman in Oakland, Calif.

Mrs. Sherman said she and another young woman, Nadine O'Neil, of Eugene, were hitchhiking to San Francisco Saturday and were picked up by two young men.

She said this was near Eureka on U.S. 101, the coast highway. She said the men, after telling of killing the policeman, decided to hold her hostage but bought a bus ticket for Nadine

South Korea Reported Insisting U.S. Challenge Any Red Thrust

SEOUL (UPI)—Presidential envoy Cyrus R. Vance today extended his troubleshooting trip to South Korea and government sources said he faced demands for a U.S. "power response" to future Communist aggression.

Vance spent two and one half hours with President Chung Hee Park today and later a spokesman said they would meet again tomorrow. Vance originally was scheduled to leave after today's meeting, the second with Park since he arrived Sunday.

Government sources reported their talks were stalled over Park's insistence that the United States meet any new Communist aggression with "a positive and effective power response." The South Korean leader also demanded that his generals have a stronger voice in the affairs of the United Nations Command, they said.

In the truce village of Panmunjom, U.N. and North Korean negotiators agreed to meet tomorrow in an open session to discuss charges of new armistice violations by North Krea.

There was no indication of whether the seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo also would be discussed. The United States has used the Panmunjom meeting place to negotiate for the return of the ship and its 82-man crew, forced into a North Korea port Jan. 23.

The U.N. Command said there were two new incidents last night along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Korea. There were no casualties reported in either firefight, which occurred along the western part of the truce line guarded by U.S. troops.

South Korean sources said one of Park's principal demands in his talks with Vance was for assignment of a South Korean general as deputy commander of the United Nations forces.

The top command presently consists of Americans although most of the troops are South Korean. The United States maintains two divisions —50,000 men —while South Korean forces number more than 400,000 men.

Elsewhere in the Korean picture, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen said last night in a speech in Pekin, Ill., that North Koreans are fishing in their coastal waters for secret code-breaking equipment and papers tossed overboard by the crew of the USS Pueblo when it was seized.

The Senate minority leader said "the latest and most delicate gear for picking up confidential information and even for breaking the code of other nations" was the object of dragging operations being carried on by North Koreans at the site of the Pueblo seizure.

The 72-year-old Republican expected to announce soon whether he will seek reelection, said he was engaged in an extensive White House briefing which included Gen. Maxwell Taylor and Gen. Earle Wheeler when the Pueblo capture was revealed.

Suspect Shot In Dope Raid On Hells Angels

OAKLAND (UPI) — A man was shot in the arm yesterday when a state narcotics agent, Roger W. Sherwood, fired a submachine gun during a raid which netted four arrests and $8,000 in drugs.

The four were sitting in the living room of their house. When he entered, Sherwood said, James E. Griffin, Fresno, turned and pointed a pistol.

Sherwood fired first, and his automatic submachine gun blast left a chain of holes in the wall.

The raid was the third by state and Oakland agents on Hell's Angels since Friday. Agents confiscated heroin, marijuana, LSD and dangerous drugs and several guns.

Arrested besides Griffin were Michael L. Fay, 23, Mary F. Keifer, 22, and Sharon J. Dower, 24.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Russell L. Wolden, former San Francisco assessor, surrendered today to begin serving a 1-to-14 year prison sentence for his part in the West Coast bribery scandals of 1965.

Wolden, 58, told newsmen he wasn't "very happy" about going to jail. He said, "it is something I never expected to happen."

Looking downcast and flanked by his attorney, James Martin MacInnis, Wolden was dressed in a conservative dark suit and topcoat upon arrival at the Hall of Justice for transfer to the Vacaville State Medical Facility.

"We're not really giving up," said Wolden. "We still have our appeal before the U.S. Supreme Court."

Pennsylvania Pike Snarled By Blizzard

SOMERSET, PA. (UPI) — Swirling gusts of snow cut visibility drastically on the ice-slicked Pennsylvania Turnpike today, triggering a rash of chain-reaction collisions involving at least 30 vehicles.

Two persons were injured, and a 19-mile stretch of the westbound lanes between the Somerset and Donegal interchanges was closed for nearly two hours.

UNIONS' LEADERS QUIT DEMO GROUP

COMBINED AP & UPI

The presidents of three major labor unions have quit the Americans for Democratic Action board over its endorsement of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's presidential bid.

They called the endorsement of the Minnesota Democrat's candidacy ill-considered and an unwarranted repudiation of President Johnson solely on the Vietnam war issue.

The ADA resignations came yesterday from I. W. Abel of the United Steelworkers Union, Louis Stulberg of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union and Joseph A. Beirne of the Communications Workers of America.

NEBRASKA BALLOT

In other political developments:

Nebraska Secretary of State Frank Marsh promised a surprise that may focus national attention on the state Wednesday when he announces the presidential candidates who will be on Nebraska's all-star preferential primary ballot.

Republican presidential hopefuls Richard M. Nixon and George Romney begin the final month of the New Hampshire primary campaign today with Vietnam policy emerging as the issue of greatest contrast between them.

"We cannot afford to lose," the former vice president told a Dover audience yesterday, for it would invite "wars of liberation' elsewhere."

"If the United States—the world's mightiest power—could be defeated by guerrilla bands backed by the ragged armies of tiny North Vietnam, then who would convincingly argue that this is not, in fact, a successful way to spread Communist power?" Nixon asked.

ROMNEY STAND

Romney, in contrast, stresses finding a political settlement to the war, possibly including Viet Cong representation in a coalition government of South Vietnam.

The war cannot be won militarily, according to the Michigan governor, and the best solution is to negotiate a settlement that includes "guaranteed neutralization" of North and South Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia.

PERCY OUT

Sen. Charles Percy in qualified terms renounced ambitions yesterday for the presidency or vice presidency.

"I can't foresee any circumstances under which I would be a candidate for either office," the Illinois Republican said in a Springfield, Ill., news conference with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

ROCKEFELLER IMAGE

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller may have improved his standing with organized labor by getting New York City's garbage picked up but Republicans generally think he has cooled party conservatives.

If a draft movement should arise for the New York governor, the conservatives conceivably could help Rockefeller get the GOP presidential nomination at the August convention. Labor support would be of little value to him there.

As matters stand, Rockefeller is so committed to supporting the candidacy of Michigan Gov. George Romney that even if Romney should falter in the primaries, the New Yorker's name is not likely to be on any popular vote ballot.

Princess's Birth Feted In Sikkim

CALCUTTA, India (UPI)—The people of the kingdom of Sikkim, nestled among the world's highest mountains, rang bells, burned incense and prayed today to celebrate the birth of a daughter to the former New York socialite who is their queen.

Queen Hope Namgyal, 28, rejoiced over the daughter she had hoped for and said she was anxious to return to the Sikkimese capital of Gangtok, 400 miles to the north to join in the celebrations.

The daughter was born yesterday and was the second child born to the queen and King Palden Thondup Namgyal, who met Hope when she was visiting India with classmates from Sarah Lawrence College of Bronxville, N. Y.

Their first-born was a boy, Prince Palden, born Feb. 21, 1964. They wanted a girl this time.

Sinatra's opening at the Fontainbleu was canceled last Friday when he came down with the flu. Yesterday, the hotel postponed the opening of his scheduled six-week stint indefinitely.

Desertions Less In Army, Rise In Other Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy and Marine Corps posted five and six year highs in desertion convictions respectively last fiscal year and Pentagon figures also show more Air Force members were convicted for desertion than the year before.

Desertions have drawn fresh attention with the recent publicized cases of U.S. servicemen seeking asylum in Sweden, assertedly in protest of the Vietnam war.

WHY DESERT?

The Pentagon maintains most men do not desert because of disillusionment over Vietnam but rather because they don't like the regimentation of military life.

"Based on previous information and studies," the Pentagon said, "it appears that such offenders are largely socially and emotionally immature.

"It can also be assumed that dissatisfaction with service life for a variety of reasons is the major cause of desertions."

SERVICE FIGURES?

In the year ending last June 30 the Navy convicted 25 deserters compared with a decade low of 4 in 1966.

Sixty-eight Marines received desertion convictions in fiscal 1967, up from 25 in 1966 but down from a peak in this decade of 100 in 1960.

The Air Force, reporting figures for the first nine months of calender year 1967, listed 11 convictions in courts-martial of men facing desertion charges.

This compared with 4 in 1966.

In fiscal 1967, the Army had 86 convicted deserters. This, calculated against its over-all strength, figured to less than 1 conviction per 1,000 men—0.07 to be exact—compared to 3.7 per 1,000 for World War II and .89 for Korea.

Soldier Seeks Danish Asylum

COPENHAGEN (AP) — An American soldier who the Army says is wanted for questioning about eight armed robberies in Germany plans to ask the Danish government for political asylum, his Danish lawyer says.

If he does, Spec. 4 Percy L. McIntosh, 20, of Fresno, will be the first U.S. military deserter to seek asylum in Denmark.

He was arrested Saturday as a deserter because he had not contacted Danish authorities. Another American soldier arrested in October was sent back to West Germany but he did not ask for asylum.

A Ministry of Justice official said McIntosh's case will be investigated thoroughly.

ANTI-VIET DIATRIBE

Dead Warriors' Kin Shocked By Letters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grieving women who have lost husbands and sons in the Vietnam war are being subjected to a barrage of antiwar diatribe sent anonymously through the mail. Some of it says American servicemen fighting in Vietnam are worse than cannibals.

The Associated Press obtained copies of this material from the widow of a soldier killed in combat. It came in hand-addressed envelopes postmarked Susanville, Calif., and bearing the return address: P.O. Box 497, Susanville.

ESSAY SIGNED

That post office box number is held in the name of H. L. Hummel. The same name appears at the end of an essay included in the antiwar material mailed to the widow.

Also included was a reprint of an antiwar essay printed last summer in The Christian Century, a highly respected nondenominational religious weekly published in Chicago.

On Dec. 19, 1967, The Christian Century filled an order for 100 reprints of the article. A spokesman for the magazine said the order for reprints was signed: "H. L. Hummel, Box 497, Susanville, Calif."

SUSANVILLE CALL

A telephone call placed to an H. L. Hummel in Susanville was answered by a woman. She said her husband is 87 and could not hear well enough to carry on a direct conversation. She relayed questions to him. He answered into the telephone himself.

The man, a sheet and blanket salesman, said he had ordered the 100 reprints of the Christian Century article "because I wanted to read them."

Asked if he had ever mailed the reprints or other material to women whose sons or husbands were killed in Vietnam, the man said:

IS IT ILLEGAL?

"I wouldn't say for sure if I didn't or did. I don't remember sending any of this to women who have lost a son or a husband. What if I did? I don't see anything wrong with it. There's no law against it, is there?"

There is no law against it.

"It's detestible and it's maddening, but it's not actionable," said Timothy J. May, general counsel to the Post Office Department. "Short of being malicious, you can use first-class mail to say almost anything to anyone about public issues."

The Pentagon launched an extensive investigation in April 1965 to track down the sources of harassing mail and telephone calls to families of servicemen killed in Vietnam.

ONE CONVICTION

In the intervening 34 months, it has pinpointed 205 specific sources—with only one successful prosecution. That involved a parolee from a federal penitentiary who read about the death of a Marine and sponged two weeks of accommodations from the family by passing himself off as a buddy of the dead man.

The House Post Office and Civil Service Committee has done extensive research on the problem of harassing mail and concluded that any law which could be construed as censorship of first-class mail would not survive a Supreme Court test.

Liechtenstein Tax Loophole Probed

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government is reported to be investigating more than 50 U.S. manufacturing companies in connection with a possible tax evasion scheme in the use of secret trust accounts in Liechtenstein.

PROBE'S TOPIC

Asst. U.S. Atty. Stephen E. Kaufman, when asked yesterday if the investigation is related to the transfer of U.S. dollars to Europe, said: "It relates to the balance-of-payments problem."

Federal officials indicated that the probe has dealt with "possible tax shelters abroad" and possibly unreported income.

The federal grand jury investigation of possible diversion of funds to Liechtenstein was revealed through an order by U.S. District Court Judge Inzer B. Wyatt holding Alfred Buehler, a lawyer-businessman of Vaduz, Liechtenstein, in contempt of court for failing to appear before the grand jury here.

Buehler is reported to have returned to Liechtenstein a year ago despite orders to reappear before the grand jury with his records.

U.S. Government representatives negotiated with U.S. lawyers representing Buehler in an effort to get him to return here. Finally, last Friday, the contempt order was issued.

Kaufman said Buehler is a director of more than 100 trusts in Liechtenstein. At least one of these trusts has received more than $2 million in "commissions" from about 50 U.S. concerns, Kaufman said, but "this country has apparently performed no services in exchange for these commissions."

LIKE BANKS?

The Liechtenstein trusts were described as similar to banks, but used as holding companies by U.S. businesses. The trusts were said to be similar to secret bank accounts in Switzerland, about which no information is revealed.

The U.S. government is seeking to learn the ultimate use of funds sent to Liechtenstein. Kaufman declined to identify any of the manufacturers involved.

No Action On Fire Station

Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said they discussed the possibility of trimming the building needs, since even the lowest of the nine bids — $308,000 by Commercial Construction Co., San Francisco — was $108,000 higher than expected, but came to no conclusions.

The board scheduled a special meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the fire station, College Avenue and Sir Francisc Drake Boulevard, to further consider the bids and possible trimming, Kamp added.

ABAG 'Loopholes' Legislation Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation "to plug up the loopholes" that allowed the theft of at least $500,000 from the Association of Bay Area Governments, was urged today by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond.

Citing "an obvious need for better protection of public funds in such an organization," Knox introduced a resolution calling for corrective legislation "as soon as possible."

He described the theft as "a scandal of major proportions."

The theft was discovered last week hours after the disappearance of the association's assistant director, Thomas N. Truax.

Knox told the Independent-Journal that the Assembly Municipal and County Government Committee, of which he is chairman, would begin hearings on the legislation within two weeks. He said the legislation would apply budgeting, auditing and fiscal controls now required of state and local government agencies.

"This may seem like locking the barn door after the horse got away," he said, "but this legislation will apply to other regional agencies as well as to ABAG.

"When ABAG was created it was assumed it would handle only small funds principally dues from its members," said Knox. "Then rather abruptly it started to get large amounts of federal funds."

Painters Hit Agent's Pay In Dues Row

Painters Union Local 83 of San Rafael voted last night to withhold a special tax payable to the district council because the council cannot repay $4,264 in dues.

Bill DeFrance, local financial secretary, said the local will withhold the 90-cent monthly per capita tax paid the council for wages of business agents at Bay Area locals until the $4,264 payment due is wiped out.

DeFrance said Franklin G. Gneri, business agent of Local 83, will have to cite the council before the state labor commissioner to get lost wages. Gneri will be given $250 monthly by the local to cover interim expenses, DeFrance said.

DeFrance said the district council is broke and cannot pay back increased dues it had been receiving from the locals since September 1966. A U.S. District Court judge last month ruled the higher dues illegal.

Local 83 has been at odds with the council for several years over alleged poor operations and still seeks to withdraw from the council, DeFrance said.

Girl Is Injured

JoAnn Oakley, 13, of 31 Curtis Avenue, San Rafael, suffered concussion and cuts and bruises yesterday when she fell from her bicycle at Sunset Way, police reported today. She was taken to Marin General Hospital where her condition was stated to be fair.

Library Site In Novato Wins Backing

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved locating the Novato branch of the Marin County Library at the corner of Novato Boulevard and Seventh Street.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors had selected the 1.5-acre site for the new branch. The site is within the area recommended by the Novato Downtown Study Committee. Action of the Novato Planners was only advisory to the county.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

SIGN — Approved an 11-square-foot free standing illuminated sign for the Independent-Journal's new building at 1535 Grant Avenue. The sign will be one foot, four inches tall and eight feet in length and stand three feet four inches high.

DUPLEX — Granted Farrokh Panah-Izadi a duplex on one lot on the corner of Ignacio Boulevard at Equire Court. He had asked for a rezoning from single to multiple family. This now goes to city council for final approval.

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by Mobil Oil Corp. for an appeal from the plan review committee denial of a free standing illuminated sign of 62 square feet, 25 feet high, at the corner of Diablo Avenue and Court Road.

LOMA VERDE — Referred proposed changes in the Loma Verde master plan to the plan review committee. Atlantic and Pacific Building Corp. is asking for apartments on the west side of Highway 101, north of Dusel Court area.

Abortion Talk

Dr. Bryan Henrie, an Oklahoma physician who served time in jail there for performing an abortion, will speak at 8 p.m. today before the Marin chapter of the California Committee to Legalize Abortion in the classroom at Ross General Hospital.

Murder Case Suspect Asks Secret Hearing

Attorneys for John Arceo, of Fairfax, accused of murdering San Rafael gun collector Wesley L. Marshall, today asked that he be allowed to conduct his pre-trial defense out of the public eye.

Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley set next Tuesday as the date for a hearing on whether to seal the public file of criminal proceedings against Arceo and Dennis Charles Novotny of San Rafael, jointly charged with slaying the 68-year-old man.

Robert A. Smallman and Harold B. Hyde, attorneys for Areco, asked that the file be sealed and that they be allowed a closed hearing on Arceo's motion to suppress evidence against him.

"When we file a motion to suppress evidence, we will have to specify the evidence. Then the cat will be out of the bag," Smallman told the judge.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said there is no legal authority for barring the public from such a hearing. "I've never seen a motion like this in Superior Court," he said.

William B. Wolfson, attorney for Novotny, said his client would be interested in the result of Arceo's motion. Judge Haley continued Novotny's scheduled entry of plea to the murder charge until after Arceo's motion is ruled on.

Claude (Frenchy) LeBas, the 20-year-old Marine who implicated Novotny and Arceo in the murder through grand jury testimony, has pleaded guilty to the stomping and beating of Marshall, and has been sentenced to life in prison.

Western Weekend's Final Bills Paid

Final bills on last year's celebration were paid last night and more plans made for this year's Western Weekend, according to John Gilmore, president of the celebration board.

The Novato Moose Lodge and Novato Chamber of Commerce had a benefit dinner dance which raised $498.50 to pay the remaining bills and left a $15 balance, Gilmore said.

GOP Rebuffs Rockefeller's New York Garbage Proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — Balking Senate Republicans at the State Capitol have stalled action on emergency legislation to support Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's controversial settlement of New York City's nine-day garbage strike.

The GOP-controlled Senate postponed action on the governor's bill last night as many Republican lawmakers shied from the prospect of approving the plan to have the state temporarily take over the city sanitation department.

The delay marked the day's second setback for the Republican governor. Earlier the Democrat-dominated Assembly refused his request to make a personal appeal for the bill before a joint session of the legislature on the ground it "would be a big Rockefeller show."

After that rebuff, Rockefeller went on television seeking popular and legislative support for the settlement which has been bitterly assailed by his nationally-known fellow Republican, Mayor John V. Lindsay, and editorially attacked by many of the state's newspapers.

In the city, the Sanitation Department said crews would mount snow plows on the trucks today to scrape up the great dunes of debris that accumulated along the curbs during the walkout.

A spokesman said that in two days of intensive efforts more than 49,000 tons of rubbish had been collected. When the men returned Saturday night an estimated 100,000 tons littered the streets and 10,000 more tons pile up each day.

Tight Money Fear Cited By Official

PALM SPRINGS (AP) —The money supply could get almost as tight this year as it did in 1966 if the government fails to cut spending or hike taxes, a governor of the Federal Reserve Board predicts.

George W. Mitchell told a news conference at the opening of the California Savings and Loan League's Annual Management Conference yesterday that the "panic" atmosphere of two years ago probably would not be repeated.

Mitchell said he feels Congress should impose a surtax. If it doesn't, he said, "it will amount to a 4½ per cent reduction in taxes because of our acceleration of payments last year."

He also said reports that banks are prohibited from making investments in foreign equities are untrue.

Mitchell also predicted paper and coin money may eventually go out of style, to be replaced by a "consumable multidenominational device" such as meters or stamps.

Bike Is Taken

David W. Gensler of 144 Hacienda Drive, Tiburon, reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday that his gold-colored bicycle was stolen sometime between 3 p.m. Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday after he left it in the rack at Del Mar School while playing basketball.

UNIONS' LEADERS QUIT DEMO GROUP

COMBINED AP & UPI

The presidents of three major labor unions have quit the Americans for Democratic Action board over its endorsement of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's presidential bid.

They called the endorsement of the Minnesota Democrat's candidacy ill-considered and an unwarranted repudiation of President Johnson solely on the Vietnam war issue.

The ADA resignations came yesterday from I. W. Abel of the United Steelworkers Union, Louis Stulberg of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union and Joseph A. Beirne of the Communications Workers of America.

NEBRASKA BALLOT

In other political developments:

Nebraska Secretary of State Frank Marsh promised a surprise that may focus national attention on the state Wednesday when he announces the presidential candidates who will be on Nebraska's all-star preferential primary ballot.

Republican presidential hopefuls Richard M. Nixon and George Romney begin the final month of the New Hampshire primary campaign today with Vietnam policy emerging as the issue of greatest contrast between them.

"We cannot afford to lose," the former vice president told a Dover audience yesterday, for it would invite "wars of liberation' elsewhere."

"If the United States—the world's mightiest power—could be defeated by guerrilla bands backed by the ragged armies of tiny North Vietnam, then who would convincingly argue that this is not, in fact, a successful way to spread Communist power?" Nixon asked.

ROMNEY STAND

Romney, in contrast, stresses finding a political settlement to the war, possibly including Viet Cong representation in a coalition government of South Vietnam.

The war cannot be won militarily, according to the Michigan governor, and the best solution is to negotiate a settlement that includes "guaranteed neutralization" of North and South Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia.

PERCY OUT

Sen. Charles Percy in qualified terms renounced ambitions yesterday for the presidency or vice presidency.

"I can't foresee any circumstances under which I would be a candidate for either office," the Illinois Republican said in a Springfield, Ill., news conference with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

ROCKEFELLER IMAGE

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller may have improved his standing with organized labor by getting New York City's garbage picked up but Republicans generally think he has cooled party conservatives.

If a draft movement should arise for the New York governor, the conservatives conceivably could help Rockefeller get the GOP presidential nomination at the August convention. Labor support would be of little value to him there.

As matters stand, Rockefeller is so committed to supporting the candidacy of Michigan Gov. George Romney that even if Romney should falter in the primaries, the New Yorker's name is not likely to be on any popular vote ballot.

Garbage Power

BOLOGNA, Italy (UPI)—The city of Bologna will build a power plant designed to produce electricity by burning garbage, city officials said today.

Princess's Birth Feted In Sikkim

CALCUTTA, India (UPI)—The people of the kingdom of Sikkim, nestled among the world's highest mountains, rang bells, burned incense and prayed today to celebrate the birth of a daughter to the former New York socialite who is their queen.

Queen Hope Namgyal, 28, rejoiced over the daughter she had hoped for and said she was anxious to return to the Sikkimese capital of Gangtok, 400 miles to the north to join in the celebrations.

The daughter was born yesterday and was the second child born to the queen and King Palden Thondup Namgyal, who met Hope when she was visiting India with classmates from Sarah Lawrence College of Bronxville, N. Y.

Their first-born was a boy, Prince Palden, born Feb. 21, 1964. They wanted a girl this time.

The 52-year-old singer's physician said his condition was fair but estimated he would be sick for another 10 days.

Sinatra's opening at the Fontainbleu was canceled last Friday when he came down with the flu. Yesterday, the hotel postponed the opening of his scheduled six-week stint indefinitely.

His illness may also postpone the start of shooting on his latest movie, "Lady in Cement," which was scheduled to begin in Miami in two weeks.

Desertions Less In Army, Rise In Other Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy and Marine Corps posted five and six year highs in desertion convictions respectively last fiscal year and Pentagon figures also show more Air Force members were convicted for desertion than the year before.

Desertions have drawn fresh attention with the recent publicized cases of U.S. servicemen seeking asylum in Sweden, assertedly in protest of the Vietnam war.

WHY DESERT?

The Pentagon maintains most men do not desert because of disillusionment over Vietnam but rather because they don't like the regimentation of military life.

"Based on previous information and studies," the Pentagon said, "it appears that such offenders are largely socially and emotionally immature.

"It can also be assumed that dissatisfaction with service life for a variety of reasons is the major cause of desertions."

SERVICE FIGURES?

In the year ending last June 30 the Navy convicted 25 deserters compared with a decade low of 4 in 1966.

Sixty-eight Marines received desertion convictions in fiscal 1967, up from 25 in 1966 but down from a peak in this decade of 100 in 1960.

The Air Force, reporting figures for the first nine months of calender year 1967, listed 11 convictions in courts-martial of men facing desertion charges.

This compared with 4 in 1966.

In fiscal 1967, the Army had 86 convicted deserters. This, calculated against its over-all strength, figured to less than 1 conviction per 1,000 men—0.07 to be exact—compared to 3.7 per 1,000 for World War II and .89 for Korea.

Soldier Seeks Danish Asylum

COPENHAGEN (AP) — An American soldier who the Army says is wanted for questioning about eight armed robberies in Germany plans to ask the Danish government for political asylum, his Danish lawyer says.

If he does, Spec. 4 Percy L. McIntosh, 20, of Fresno, will be the first U.S. military deserter to seek asylum in Denmark.

He was arrested Saturday as a deserter because he had not contacted Danish authorities. Another American soldier arrested in October was sent back to West Germany but he did not ask for asylum.

A Ministry of Justice official said McIntosh's case will be investigated thoroughly.

ANTI-VIET DIATRIBE

Dead Warriors' Kin Shocked By Letters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grieving women who have lost husbands and sons in the Vietnam war are being subjected to a barrage of antiwar diatribe sent anonymously through the mail. Some of it says American servicemen fighting in Vietnam are worse than cannibals.

The Associated Press obtained copies of this material from the widow of a soldier killed in combat. It came in hand-addressed envelopes postmarked Susanville, Calif., and bearing the return address: P.O. Box 497, Susanville.

ESSAY SIGNED

That post office box number is held in the name of H. L. Hummel. The same name appears at the end of an essay included in the antiwar material mailed to the widow.

Also included was a reprint of an antiwar essay printed last summer in The Christian Century, a highly respected nondenominational religious weekly published in Chicago.

On Dec. 19, 1967, The Christian Century filled an order for 100 reprints of the article. A spokesman for the magazine said the order for reprints was signed: "H. L. Hummel, Box 497, Susanville, Calif."

SUSANVILLE CALL

A telephone call placed to an H. L. Hummel in Susanville was answered by a woman. She said her husband is 87 and could not hear well enough to carry on a direct conversation. She relayed questions to him. He answered into the telephone himself.

The man, a sheet and blanket salesman, said he had ordered the 100 reprints of the Christian Century article "because I wanted to read them."

Asked if he had ever mailed the reprints or other material to women whose sons or husbands were killed in Vietnam, the man said:

IS IT ILLEGAL?

"I wouldn't say for sure if I didn't or did. I don't remember sending any of this to women who have lost a son or a husband. What if I did? I don't see anything wrong with it. There's no law against it, is there?"

There is no law against it.

"It's detestible and it's maddening, but it's not actionable," said Timothy J. May, general counsel to the Post Office Department. "Short of being malicious, you can use first-class mail to say almost anything to anyone about public issues."

The Pentagon launched an extensive investigation in April 1965 to track down the sources of harassing mail and telephone calls to families of servicemen killed in Vietnam.

ONE CONVICTION

In the intervening 34 months, it has pinpointed 205 specific sources—with only one successful prosecution. That involved a parolee from a federal penitentiary who read about the death of a Marine and sponged two weeks of accommodations from the family by passing himself off as a buddy of the dead man.

The House Post Office and Civil Service Committee has done extensive research on the problem of harassing mail and concluded that any law which could be construed as censorship of first-class mail would not survive a Supreme Court test.

Liechtenstein Tax Loophole Probed

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government is reported to be investigating more than 50 U.S. manufacturing companies in connection with a possible tax evasion scheme in the use of secret trust accounts in Liechtenstein.

PROBE'S TOPIC

Asst. U.S. Atty. Stephen E. Kaufman, when asked yesterday if the investigation is related to the transfer of U.S. dollars to Europe, said: "It relates to the balance-of-payments problem."

Federal officials indicated that the probe has dealt with "possible tax shelters abroad" and possibly unreported income.

The federal grand jury investigation of possible diversion of funds to Liechtenstein was revealed through an order by U.S. District Court Judge Inzer B. Wyatt holding Alfred Buehler, a lawyer-businessman of Vaduz, Liechtenstein, in contempt of court for failing to appear before the grand jury here.

Buehler is reported to have returned to Liechtenstein a year ago despite orders to reappear before the grand jury with his records.

U.S. Government representatives negotiated with U.S. lawyers representing Buehler in an effort to get him to return here. Finally, last Friday, the contempt order was issued.

Kaufman said Buehler is a director of more than 100 trusts in Liechtenstein. At least one of these trusts has received more than $2 million in "commissions" from about 50 U.S. concerns, Kaufman said, but "this country has apparently performed no services in exchange for these commissions."

LIKE BANKS?

The Liechtenstein trusts were described as similar to banks, but used as holding companies by U.S. businesses. The trusts were said to be similar to secret bank accounts in Switzerland, about which no information is revealed.

The U.S. government is seeking to learn the ultimate use of funds sent to Liechtenstein. Kaufman declined to identify any of the manufacturers involved.

GOP Rebuffs Rockefeller's New York Garbage Proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — Balking Senate Republicans at the State Capitol have stalled action on emergency legislation to support Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's controversial settlement of New York City's nine-day garbage strike.

The GOP-controlled Senate postponed action on the governor's bill last night as many Republican lawmakers shied from the prospect of approving the plan to have the state temporarily take over the city sanitation department.

The delay marked the day's second setback for the Republican governor. Earlier the Democrat-dominated Assembly refused his request to make a personal appeal for the bill before a joint session of the legislature on the ground it "would be a big Rockefeller show."

No Action On Fire Station

Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said they discussed the possibility of trimming the building needs, since even the lowest of the nine bids — $308,000 by Commercial Construction Co., San Francisco — was $108,000 higher than expected, but came to no conclusions.

The board scheduled a special meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the fire station, College Avenue and Sir Francisc Drake Boulevard, to further consider the bids and possible trimming, Kamp added.

ABAG 'Loopholes' Legislation Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation "to plug up the loopholes" that allowed the theft of at least $500,000 from the Association of Bay Area Governments, was urged today by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond.

Citing "an obvious need for better protection of public funds in such an organization," Knox introduced a resolution calling for corrective legislation "as soon as possible."

He described the theft as "a scandal of major proportions."

The theft was discovered last week hours after the disappearance of the association's assistant director, Thomas N. Truax.

Knox told the Independent-Journal that the Assembly Municipal and County Government Committee, of which he is chairman, would begin hearings on the legislation within two weeks. He said the legislation would apply budgeting, auditing and fiscal controls now required of state and local government agencies.

"This may seem like locking the barn door after the horse got away," he said, "but this legislation will apply to other regional agencies as well as to ABAG.

"When ABAG was created it was assumed it would handle only small funds principally dues from its members," said Knox. "Then rather abruptly it started to get large amounts of federal funds."

Painters Hit Agent's Pay In Dues Row

Painters Union Local 83 of San Rafael voted last night to withhold a special tax payable to the district council because the council cannot repay $4,264 in dues.

Bill DeFrance, local financial secretary, said the local will withhold the 90-cent monthly per capita tax paid the council for wages of business agents at Bay Area locals until the $4,264 payment due is wiped out.

DeFrance said Franklin G. Gneri, business agent of Local 83, will have to cite the council before the state labor commissioner to get lost wages. Gneri will be given $250 monthly by the local to cover interim expenses, DeFrance said.

DeFrance said the district council is broke and cannot pay back increased dues it had been receiving from the locals since September 1966. A U.S. District Court judge last month ruled the higher dues illegal.

Local 83 has been at odds with the council for several years over alleged poor operations and still seeks to withdraw from the council, DeFrance said.

Library Site In Novato Wins Backing

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved locating the Novato branch of the Marin County Library at the corner of Novato Boulevard and Seventh Street.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors had selected the 1.5-acre site for the new branch. The site is within the area recommended by the Novato Downtown Study Committee. Action of the Novato Planners was only advisory to the county.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

SIGN — Approved an 11-square-foot free standing illuminated sign for the Independent-Journal's new building at 1535 Grant Avenue. The sign will be one foot, four inches tall and eight feet in length and stand three feet four inches high.

DUPLEX — Granted Farrokh Panah-Izadi a duplex on one lot on the corner of Ignacio Boulevard at Equire Court. He had asked for a rezoning from single to multiple family. This now goes to city council for final approval.

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by Mobil Oil Corp. for an appeal from the plan review committee denial of a free standing illuminated sign of 62 square feet, 25 feet high, at the corner of Diablo Avenue and Court Road.

Murder Case Suspect Asks Secret Hearing

Attorneys for John Arceo, of Fairfax, accused of murdering San Rafael gun collector Wesley L. Marshall, today asked that he be allowed to conduct his pre-trial defense out of the public eye.

Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley set next Tuesday as the date for a hearing on whether to seal the public file of criminal proceedings against Arceo and Dennis Charles Novotny of San Rafael, jointly charged with slaying the 68-year-old man.

Robert A. Smallman and Harold B. Hyde, attorneys for Areco, asked that the file be sealed and that they be allowed a closed hearing on Arceo's motion to suppress evidence against him.

"When we file a motion to suppress evidence, we will have to specify the evidence. Then the cat will be out of the bag," Smallman told the judge.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said there is no legal authority for barring the public from such a hearing. "I've never seen a motion like this in Superior Court," he said.

William B. Wolfson, attorney for Novotny, said his client would be interested in the result of Arceo's motion. Judge Haley continued Novotny's scheduled entry of plea to the murder charge until after Arceo's motion is ruled on.

Claude (Frenchy) LeBas, the 20-year-old Marine who implicated Novotny and Arceo in the murder through grand jury testimony, has pleaded guilty to the stomping and beating of Marshall, and has been sentenced to life in prison.

Western Weekend's Final Bills Paid

Final bills on last year's celebration were paid last night and more plans made for this year's Western Weekend, according to John Gilmore, president of the celebration board.

The Novato Moose Lodge and Novato Chamber of Commerce had a benefit dinner dance which raised $498.50 to pay the remaining bills and left a $15 balance, Gilmore said.

Overlaps, Conflicts Slow Poverty War

itself has sponsored only one project in its first year, suggesting others to private agencies.

A $17,000 program to counsel pregnant teen-agers was begun last year, but soon dropped because of a lack of referrals and because the sponsoring Young Women's Christian Association could not find an agency to take it over on a fulltime basis. Federal funding for the project was arranged through the EOC.

WHAT VALUE?

The EOC's lone program was one affording recreation, education and work experience last summer to 98 youths who were paid $1.50 an hour for 20 hours a week. The cost: $67,000. The value: largely undetermined, since Victor H. Cary, EOC executive director, says he does not have staff to follow through with the young persons.

Besides Cary, the EOC staff comprises five community workers, each receiving $425 monthly, a $650-a-month community worker, whose job is to supervise the community workers and to "get on a friendly basis with the community," and an unsalaried manpower consultant.

Cary is aiming for a staff budget of $121,000 in the coming fiscal year.

ADULT CLASSES

In Marin City, Target Area Director James W. Coleman has started basic adult education classes. Free reading, writing and arithmetic lessons are given to 20 persons at Manzanita School, with 25 others being tutored at home because they cannot get outside. Fifteen teachers are donating time for classes, Coleman said.

Coleman, 32, of San Francisco, who formerly worked with the Department of Human Resources in Oakland, draws $8,040 a year and has three community workers and two secretaries under him. His staff budget for the coming year is projected at $41,000.

The nine-member human rights commission, formed by the supervisors to combat discrimination, works in the field of housing, employment, education and police-community relations. The budget is $25,650.

COSTLY PROGRAM

The office next to Human Rights Director Thompson's in the Civic Center is occupied by the Marin staff of the nation's most expensive anti-poverty program, the Neighborhood Youth Corps. It is administered by the U. S. Department of Labor for 232,000 young persons at a cost of $198 million.

The project pays $1.30 hourly to poor youths 16 to 22 who wish to work part-time to stay in school and to drop-outs enrolling in a work experience-education program.

$10,080 SALARY

Running Marin's program is James E. McKenna of San Rafael, a tall, retired Army lieutenant colonel, who receives an annual salary of $10,080 a year. He has an assistant and three part-time consultants at $3.75 an hour.

McKenna likes to point out that two-thirds of his current budget of $185,000 goes toward wages and training of the 65 enrollees.

He says he is pleased that, out of 24 high school seniors in the program last year, 17 continued their studies and graduated. He reported that five of the drop-outs in the program recently got jobs with public agencies. McKenna works with 40 employers in Marin.

Since it started, the youth corps has handled 500 young persons in Marin, and McKenna is concerned that a high number "drift away" from the program.

BEEN DISAPPOINTED

"We've been disappointed with what we've done this far, but we hope that the kids get a chance to take a good look at themselves and stay out of trouble," he says. "I think they now have a feeling that people will help them."

McKenna has requested a $90,000 budget to continue the local youth corps program through September. Present funds run out next month.

Also operated by the county is the comprehensive child care and pre-school program. The project, under the county schools office, serves about 260 underprivileged children aged 3 to 11, supported with a federal-state-county budget of $269,000.

THREE PARTS

The program has three parts: child care, with a budget of $122,000, helps parents who work, attend school or are incapacitated and offers some education; a $101,000 Head Start project and a state compensatory education program, budgeted at $46,000 for preschoolers.

Activities are conducted at the Manzanita Children's Center in Marin City and at St. Francis Episcopal Church in Novato. The director is Joseph H. Denhart, former chief of Sonoma County Head Start.

Childcare enrollment is 110, of whom 80 attend the Marin City center. Six teachers are employed at salaries ranging from $440 to $550 a month, and two Head Start teachers work with the pre-kindergarten children. Two part-time teacher assistants receive $228 monthly.

PARENTS CHARGED

Parents, whose income averages $400 a month, pay fees averaging 14 cents an hour. Denhart said a survey shows that 80 per cent of the child care enrollees has only one parent.

Head Start, oldest and most popular program of the federal OEO, is funded through the EOC for 107 children from low income families. The children are tested, given medical and dental examinations and have the services of a psychologist and psychiatrist.

Denhart said that, out of the 107 children, only 4 had had dental checkups when they were enrolled and 33 had received physicals. Head Start's six teachers advise a pupil's family on nutrition and food buying.

TEACHERS PAID

Teachers are paid $640 monthly for eight months of Head Start, September to June, while assistants receive $228 a month. Other teachers, supplied by the Volunteer Bureau of Marin County, help help out. The League of Women Voters also gives time.

Four of the six paid teacher assistants are former welfare recipients.

45 YOUNGSTERS

The state-funded pre-school program serves 45 children, 23 of whom come from families on welfare. Others belong to low income families or ones in which a foreign language is spoken in the home. Denhart said that only one child had ever received a dental examination when the program began in September.

Denhart said tests will determine student progress in June. These results, along with medical and dental records, will go to the kindergarten teacher when school starts this fall.

Tomorrow: Future course of the war.)

Tot Shows Up In San Rafael

San Rafael police with the help of neighborhood youngsters searched the Terra Linda area for nearly five hours yesterday for a 4-year-old boy reported lost.

But all the time, little John Joseph Brooke of 1012 C Los Gamos, was safely playing in the care of a babysitter in San Rafael.

Police said they were called by the mother, Annette K. Brooke shortly after 2 p.m. and she appeared disturbed over the child's disappearance. She told officers she had no babysitter.

A search was made of the Los Gamos apartment complex and widened to Terra Linda two hours later.

About 5 p.m., a friend of the mother telephoned babysitter Mrs. Sam Orchid of 5 Constance Drive and was told John had been there since 10 a.m. when he arrived by taxi under an arrangement with the parents.

Pacifist Sailors Declare Hanoi's Morale Is High

HONG KONG (UPI) — The North Vietnamese port of Haiphong is scarred with bomb craters but the people's morale is good, crewmen of the American pacifist yacht Phoenix said today.

The Phoenix arrived in Hong Kong from its second visit to Haiphong today after delivering $6,000 worth of medical supplies to the North Vietnamese Red Cross.

"Anyone who thinks the people in North Vietnam can be demoralized by the bombing is mistaken," said Berl Nelson, 23 of Kokomo, Ind.

San Rafael builder Philip Drath, who seeks the First Congressional District Democratic nomination, was a crew member on the first Phoenix visit to Hanoi in 1966.

to continue to San Francisco.

There was no confirmation at Oakland of a policeman having been killed.

Police said Mrs. Sherman told them the men decided to come to Oregon and were headed for Eugene when they stopped to get some money.

She said they allowed her to leave the car to beg for money. Instead, she said, she asked a couple to take her to the police.

The car blew a tire as the men raced down a logging road. They stopped, took two shots at police, and fled on foot into the woods.

Black Panther Pleads Innocent To Murder Count

OAKLAND (UPI)— Huey P. Newton, 25, a Black Panther accused of murdering an Oakland policeman, entered a plea at his arraignment today with a snappy, "I'm not guilty."

His 30-minute court appearance occurred as 40 Alameda County sheriff's deputies patrolled the courthouse corridors with walkie-talkies to prevent a repetition of disturbances by Panther members.

Newton, the militant Negro party's former defense minister, is charged with fatally shooting Patrolman John Frey, 23, wounding Patrolman Herbert Heanes, 24, and kidnaping a passing motorist, Del Ross, to make a getaway.

Twin Sisters, 20, Are Found Dead

TURLOCK (AP) — Twin sisters apparently took their own lives because of what their father calls an obsession over the fact they did not have attractive figures.

Janet Ann and Joan Marie Jackson, 20, were found dead in their car in a rural area northwest of Turlock late yesterday. A hose led from the exhaust into the car.

Their father, Donald Jackson, said the girls had been despondent in the past over their height of 5 foot 1 and their boyish figures. He said their feature had become an obsession with them. Janet, he said, had attempted suicide two months ago but made a "fantastic recovery."

San Rafael Library Funds, Space Studied

Trustees of the San Rafael Library will begin consideration of the library budget for the fiscal year at their meeting at 7:45 p.m. March 11 at the library.

Trustees meeting last night agreed to get cost estimates for a survey of library construction needs. "We're out of space," explained head librarian Mrs. Vivian Smith.

Survey Shows Sausalitans Favor Library

Sausalito voters favor a new library by seven-to-one, according to returns from a questionnaire mailed to registered voters by the Sausalito Library board.

The board, reviewing the questionnaire results last night, learned that of 1,156 replies to 2,247 questionnaires mailed, 1,010 persons said a new library is needed compared to 146 who said it is not.

Voters gave these preferences: 474 for a civic center combining a new library with other city departments; 321 for a bond issue to buy a site and build a library, and 64 for renovating the present second-story library downtown. Other answers were scattered.

Among proposed locations for a new library, the Caledonia Street area drew the most votes, 371. Another 234 persons favored a downtown location, and 120 favored an area north of Filbert Street and Bridgeway. Several other areas drew smaller numbers of votes.

The board indicated pleasure at the 50 per cent response to the questionnaire and agreed to send the results to the city council for study and possible action.

The board discussed available sites in the Caledonia Street area, but reached no conclusions.

Sausalito voters twice last year defeated a proposal to build a new library on the waterfront, first when a two-thirds majority was needed to pass a bond issue and then when a simple majority was needed in a referendum on the council's proposed lease-purchase of the library. Opposition centered on the waterfront location.

Novato Burglars Hit High School, Chamber

Three burglaries, netting $117 in cash and some equipment, were reported yesterday to Novato police: at Novato High School, in the Novato Chamber of Commerce at 867 Sweetser Avenue and at Tab's Dental Clinic, same address.

The most strenuous, but unsuccessful, effort was at the high school on Arthur Street where the administration building, cafeteria and metal shop areas were invaded by the burglars.

Burglars, using an acetylene torch, taken from the metal shop, cut off the exterior of a 500-pound safe, pulled out the fire clay and then gave up. The still-unopened safe holds an undetermined amount of money, police reported.

The burglars then entered the cafeteria, probably using a key to consume a pie, potato chips and milk. They also failed to get into four other padlocked refrigerators, according to police.

Several secretaries' desks were ransacked. In Principal Stanley Onderdonk's office the prowlers spat on two photographs of him.

The burglars finally took the acetylene and oxygen tank cutting outfit with them on a dolly. It was valued at $100, according to police.

The Novato Chamber of Commerce was entered sometime Sunday night or early yesterday, police reported. Here $117 in an envelope in the desk of a secretary, was taken. The desk of Manager Donald Loeggering was untouched, according to police.

The burglar kicked open the door to the adjacent Tab's Dental Clinic owned by Terry A. Bonner of 33 Orchard Way, but apparently nothing was taken, police reported.

Sanitary Board Back Of Merger

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board last night agreed to write a letter requesting the Local Agency Formation Commission to study a proposed consolidation of the district with the Ross Valley Sanitary District.

The Ross Valley District board last Wednesday agreed to join in the request, which includes consideration of possible tax savings if the two consolidate.

The Town of Corte Madera already has sent a resolution of intention to LAFC to merge the town and the Corte Madera district, but has postponed further action pending additional study.

Driver Booked For High Speed

A Petaluma man was booked yesterday at the county jail for reckless driving after California Highway Patrolmen clocked his car at speeds up to 100 miles an hour on northbound Highway 101.

Officer Richard A. Harkness reported he saw a speeding car driven by Dallas L. Barrett, 29, at 8:20 p.m. near Lucky Drive in Corte Madera.

Because of the heavy traffic, Harkness said he had difficulty keeping up with Barrett's car as it cut in and out of traffic but finally stopped it south of the Ignacio off-ramp.

Barrett was held on bail of $115 and was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Wallace Backer In Tax Trouble

RENO (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service said yesterday liens have been filed against Dr. John Detar, Reno physician and leader of Nevada's campaign for former Alabama Gov. George Wallace for president.

The IRS said the liens are to cover what it claims is $21,000 in income taxes owed for the years 1961 through 1966.

It said Detar's office has been padlocked by revenue agents and his records taken by federal authorities.

Dr. Detar has been an active member of the John Birch Society here for several years. And he is leading the efforts to put Wallace's name on the Nevada ballot as a presidential candidate.

Idaho has 83,000 square miles.

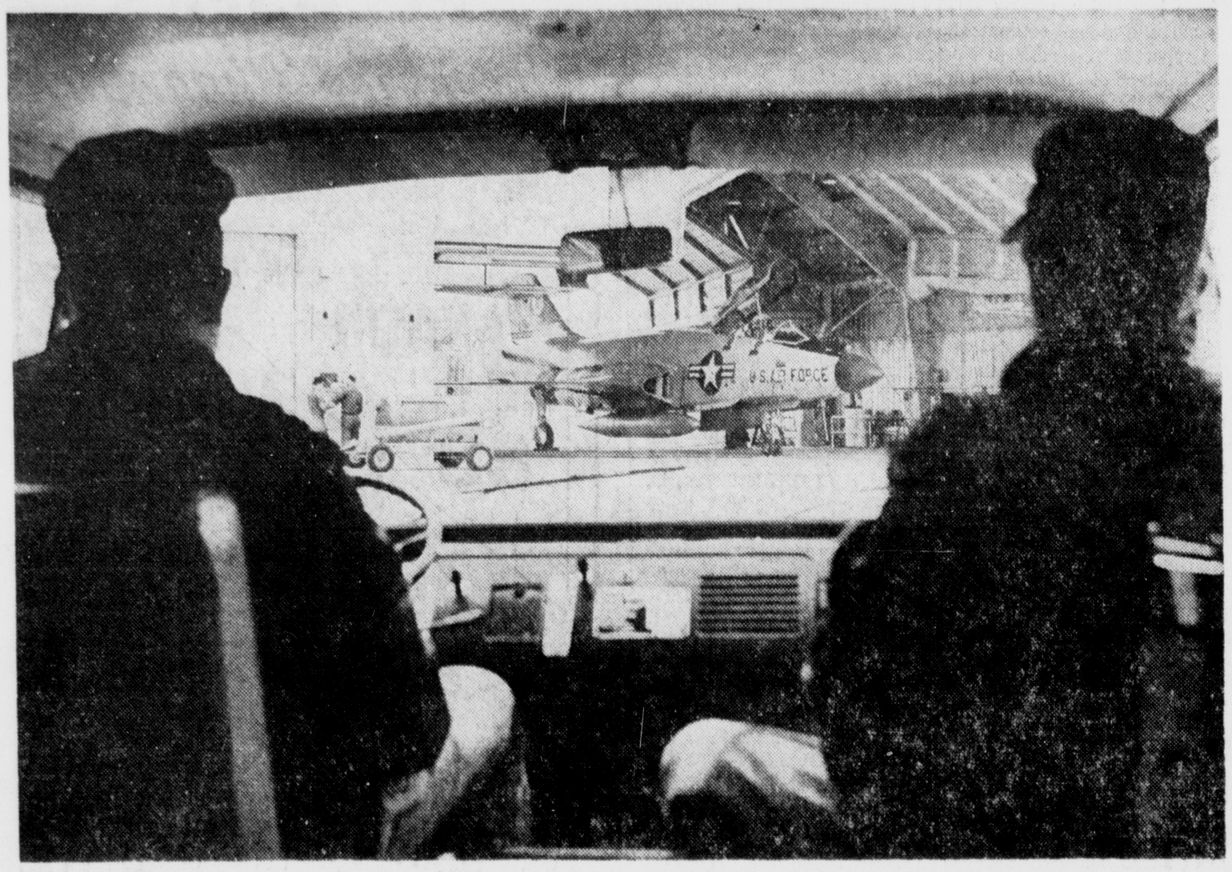
Hamilton Men Always Ready For The Worst



REPORTING — Capt. John L. Larrison, left, and Capt. Jack Weatherford drive a truck up to a hangar housing their F-101 aircraft ready to report for alert station.

APPROACH RUN — Pilot and radar officer sprint for the aircraft as an alert sounds. They are given five minutes to get off the ground but claim they can do it within three from the time the bells ring and the lights flash.

Jets Can Scramble Instantly

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

A bleep no bigger than a pin head on a radar screen 500 miles away sets the klaxtons blaring, the red lights flashing and the bells ringing.

Instantly awake, the men spring from their beds at Hamilton Air Force Base, zip into boots and flying suits and are behind the controls of aircraft within three minutes.

The radar bleep is identified as a commercial airliner which has wandered off course. The fighter pilots grimace and head back home.

To the men of the 84th Fighter Interception Squadron it has been another alert. A time to test in earnest their skill and timing, kept razor sharp.

The fact that serious alerts happen with considerably less regularity these days makes little difference. The men are kept on their toes ready to spring into action the second the alarm sounds.

Four aircraft are normally kept on five minutes alert. This means the crews — a pilot and radar officer for each plane — eat, sleep, talk, read, watch television or play electronic football within feet of their charges.

Others are on 15-minute alert. They can go outside the barbed-wire and heavily-armed compound which house the aircraft at the end of the main runway.

Only their homes on the base are off limits to the 15-minute men. Wherever they are, small pocket receivers keep them in touch with the warning system. Taking in a movie from their reserved seats on the back row at the base theater, they must keep one eye on the screen and the other on a scramble sign that might light at any moment.

It is from here an alert flashes to Hamilton or any other of the division's fighter interception squadrons in Oregon and California.

There was a time alerts sounded on an average of one a week, but not now.

"With every known flight of aircraft fed into a computer, it only takes seconds to identify a bleep on the screen," said Capt. John L. Larrison. "That's one reason we get an alert now, say every three months."

On these occasions, the computer fails to turn up a card and the ominous looking bleep has to be identified. Every second counts as it approaches the coast at high speed.

Larrison commands "C" flight of four aircraft. There are four flights in the squadron — a total of 16 aircraft, manned by 32 pilots and radar officers.

Both are 32 years of age and have been in the Air Force 10 years. They are both married and each has two children.

In the event of a massive attack of missiles on the base, the men of the 84th have orders to get their planes off the ground to the relative safety of the air. It would mean leaving their wives and children behind.

Larrison said he was concerned at one time but now firmly refuses to let the prospect worry him or interfere with his work.

"Shirley and I talked about it some time back," he said, "and came to the conclusion it was probably the best arrangement in the long run.

"No one can conceive the confusion which would result from a missile attack. Someone has to get those birds in the air and we thought I would be more use up there than adding to the confusion below."

He comes from Terre Haute, Ind., ("Be careful what you say, my father's just been elected mayor.") and he joined the alert squadron after a stint in Vietnam because he wanted experience for an ultimate career as an aeronautical engineer.

"You'll find that most of the guys — average age 28, married with one or two children — joined the squadron because they wanted to work with this particular aircraft.

"The idea that they think of themselves as sort of heroes going out to meet the potential enemy is not right."

Each flight spends two days on alert, two days off duty, two days on one-hour alert at Siskiyou Air Force Base and two days flying training on an eight-day schedule.

At any time, the squadron may be subject to what is called an Alert Force Capability Test or AFCAT. After a written test, the men are sent out on an alert exercise with "hits" recorded on tape and film in simulators fitted in the place of aircraft armament.

Outside the training and the studying, there is no room for boredom. Tension is shattered by good humor among the men seated around the felt-covered table.

But each sits a little forward in his chair, half hearing an alert he prays will never sound.

DOWN WE GO — Capt. Larrison shoots down a pole — a short cut from the dormitory to the hangar. The pole first saw service in the base firehouse.

Fairfax Council One Vote Shy For Center On Ballot

Fairfax City Council last night came within one vote of launching a two-part civic center bond proposal totaling $650,000 toward the June 4 primary ballot.

A $550,000 measure was proposed for construction of a firehouse and city hall-police administration building and a $100,000 measure for council chambers.

MINUS ONE VOTE

Three councilmen voted to proceed, but the matter was dropped when they learned that future action to put the proposal on the ballot would require four votes.

There didn't appear to be a chance to get four votes later for the proposal, and to proceed without them would cost the city $750 in bond counsel fees for naught.

Councilmen passed a resolution of intention to call the election, which was later annulled, by a 3-2 vote with Councilman Robert R. Souza and Frank J. Egger dissenting.

Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. contended the only way to resolve the civic center was "at the polls," and it should be placed on the ballot "at this time."

Egger contended that $650,000 was about $100,000 shy of the estimated cost.

ANOTHER SITE

Souza wanted consideration of an alternative site for the proposed firehouse. "I'm against the city hall-council complex," he said. "I think the critical need is still with the firehouse."

Atty. Gil Medeiros, representing Mr. and Mrs. James Dismuke, owners of the Fairfax French Laundry and Cleaners at 101 Bolinas Avenue, site of the proposed firehouse, urged the council to select another site.

Medeiros proposed that the firehouse be placed at the southeast corner of Sherman Street and Bolinas Road, but architect Charles Stickney, who designed the proposed civic center, said that move would destroy a residential neighborhood.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton said he would prefer a firehouse fronting on Bolinas Road because of the traffic problems in having the trucks come out onto Sherman Street.

FAVORS LAUNDRY

Souza said he was concerned about moving out the laundry which he described as "the number one employer in town with 52 employees."

When Arrigoni charged that the dissenting councilmen were denying people the right to vote, Souza objected. "It's not denying the voter's right. It's the council exercising its best judgment," he said.

Egger said, "I don't want to drop this. We still need facilities. I still intend to put this to the people in June with alternatives."

CENTER PLEA

There were about 50 persons in the audience when Arrigoni commented: "These facilities were needed 10 years ago, and 10 years from today they'll cost a lot more. Don't kid yourself, you'll need this. I think you're doing yourself a disservice if you say we can't afford this."

Councilmen agreed to consider the civic center issue again at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Big Brother Leader Denies Poverty Link

Big Brothers of San Francisco Bay Area, a private, volunteer agency to serve boys without fathers, has no intention of becoming connected with the Economic Opportunity Council in Marin.

This was the message from Paul Bissinger Jr., board chairman of the Bay Area agency, to the Fairfax City Council last night. "We're not a poverty program," he said.

Big Brothers of America, the parent group, would like to see a program start in Marin County, Bissinger said. It would operate best if it were handled by one agency and operated countywide, he contended.

One woman asked what would be needed to start a Big Brother program, and Bissinger replied, "The first need is interested citizens who will raise money."

A proposal by the San Anselmo-Fairfax Target Area Board to have a "Big Brother" program financed through the Marin County EOC stirred controversy last month.

There were no federal funds available and the area board is seeking other sources of funds.

The Fairfax City Council Also:

COMMUTER PARKING — Voted 4-1, Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. dissenting, to charge 25 cents a day for parking at the north side of the Parkade between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. Commuters from outside the city reportedly use about 60 per cent of the parking space there.

SUBDIVISION LAW — Introduced amendments to the subdivision ordinance requiring underground utilities in new subdivisions and establishing fees for subdivisions of less than five lots, a base fee of $25 plus $10 for each lot.

FIRE CODE — Adopted a fire prevention code which would establish a fire prevention bureau.

PLANNING COUNCIL — Appointed Leo Cronin, chairman of the planning commission, to the City-County Planning Council of Marin.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Richard H. Sloan from the board of review and Robert J. Gaetjen from the park and recreation commission with regret and commendation for their efforts. Sloan wrote he was moving from the city and Gaetjen wrote a job reassignment prevented him from giving adequate time to the post. Mayor George A. Pagni said anyone interested in serving on the park and recreation commission should notify City Administrator David J. Sumbardo.

LITTLE LEAGUE — Approved payment of $250 to the Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Little League for maintenance of the city baseball field.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. next Monday at the Fairfax Women's Club to complete agenda. Because of the lateness of the hour, the council didn't reach several matters including a health plan for city employees, a revised city-county planning council agreement and a resolution declaring certain creek areas to be public nuisances.

Murders Doubted By Pathologist In Graves Study

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Rodney F. Carlton, the pathologist who examined three skeletons found in unmarked graves at Cummins Prison Farm, said yesterday he doubts that they are those of murder victims.

He said two of the skeletons "do not show any evidence of trauma or a violent death." He added that none of the skeletons showed any evidence of decapitation, amputation or mutilation.

Carlton said there were evidences of fractures on the third skeleton but added that he was "inclined to think that they were probably sustained after death."

Carlton said some of the fractures on the third skeleton are fresh. He said, however, that others are definitely older and are consistent with fractures due to blunt trauma.

Progressive Whist Party Announced

A public progressive whist party will be held at 1 p.m., Feb. 29 at the Novato Community House sponsored by the Novato Senior Citizens Club.

Marguerite Porter of 1117 Mirabella Avenue, Novato, is in charge of the reservations and Eva Whittaker of 84 Palm Lane, Novato, is the general chairman of the event.

Vacation Club Enters Sierra

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Club Mediterranee, a French-based vacation club, announced final negotiations yesterday for construction of a 400-room, $4 million hotel in Alpine County's Bear Valley.

It will be the first club in the U.S. for the organization, which operates 41 vacation hotels in 20 countries. Its membership of more than half a million persons includes 10,000 Americans.

Gerard Blitz, founder and director general of Club Mediterranee, said the club planned to make Bear Valley an international skiing and moutain resort.

He also criticized efforts by the U.S. administration to limit tourism.

Fishing Protest

HULL, England (UPI)—An Icelandic trawler docked yesterday at Hull loaded with fish caught in waters now closed to British fishermen because of recent trawler disasters. Hull fishermen complained that foreign vessels were cashing in on the government ban, which was imposed after three trawlers were lost with 59 men aboard.

Sumbardo To Apologize To Audience

Fairfax City Manager David J. Sumbardo told the Fairfax City Council at a closed meeting early today that he was sorry he said people in the audience at a recent council meeting were "a bunch of idiots."

The Fairfax council met with Sumbardo for 15 minutes after concluding its regular meeting at midnight last night. A complaint against Sumbardo was made by four women who heard him make the remark at a council discussion of the proposed city hall complex two weeks ago.

Mayor George A. Pagni reported that Sumbardo said he had already written a letter of apology to each of the four women, and would apologize publicly at the next council meeting. It was something said "in the heat of argument," Sumbardo told councilmen.

Pagni said the five council members accepted Sumbardo's apology and decided there would be no disciplinary action.

The four women who made a complaint were Josephine Bacci, Velia Petroni, Elsie Pipan and Delfina Petri.

They wrote a letter about it to the council and to the Independent-Journal. "The actions of some Fairfax city officials have been most offensive . . ." they complained. "Mr. Sumbardo remarked that we were a 'bunch of idiots.'

"Isn't that a bad situation that exists in our city? Perhaps Mr. Sumbardo should be replaced by someone better able to communicate with the citizens and taxpayers of Fairfax."

Fairfax Councilmen Stall On Their Pay

Fairfax City Council argued to a stalemate last night over whether councilmen sould be paid $150 a month.

Councilman Robert R. Souza, noting the workload that the unpaid councilmen do, held forth for the salary. "I don't think its exorbitant in view of the work involved," he said.

He spoke of the meetings, 97 last year, the telephone calls at home and the time spent away from family. Because of the amount of effort that goes into the job, a councilman should be "more than a thank you and a kick in the behind," he said.

Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni declared himself against any pay to councilmen, and said he has found "personal satisfaction" serving "as a community service."

The town can't afford to spend the $9,000 annual cost involved, he said.

Councilman Adelaide Wilson said needed projects were cut from the budget last year, and she would oppose spending $9,000 "at this time with our budget."

Two members of the audience backed the idea of councilmen getting paid. Leo Cronin, planning commission chairman, thought it was inopportune to bring the matter up with council elections due in April.

Souza said he hoped council salaries wouldn't become a campaign issue.

Arrigoni contended that there are two good candidates in the race, and he didn't feel that there would be better qualified candidates if there were a salary for councilmen

Souza said he was speaking of "a matter of justice, recognition and token compensation," and said he wouldn't object to putting the salary question on the ballot.

Councilman Frank J. Egger said he wouldn't vote himself a salary, but felt there was a "need for some recognition."

Arrigoni made a motion that the council not consider any ordinance establishing salaries, and it passed unanimously ending the discussion for the evening.

City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said last night's vote didn't preclude the matter from coming up again at the next council meeting or future council meeting.

Meeting Is Tonight

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Saturday that West Marin School District trustees were to meet last night. They are to meet at 8 p.m. today in West Marin School.

HENRY A. HABERMAN
In Ross council race

Haberman To Seek Job On Ross Council

Six other candidates, including three incumbents, have returned nomination papers in the race — first in Ross since 1960. Jack Carney, a disc jockey, has taken out papers but not returned them.

Haberman is retired owner of Ross Automotive Service, which he operated 23 years. He is a former Sleepy Hollow resident and has lived in Ross 10 years.

He said today he was running because he felt Ross government was dominated by "a few people." It is his first try for public office.

Haberman, married and the father of two children, is a member of the San Rafael Elks Club.

Incumbents in the race are Mrs. Natalie Lewis, Thomas W. Jones and Dr. W. James Dawson. Robert M. Brown, a tailor, and Jefferson Graves Jr., investment supervisor for a bank, are other challengers.

Byron White Files For Town Council

Byron D. White, 64, Corte Madera planning commissioner, today filed for one of the two Town Council posts open in the April 9 election.

Two incumbents, William W. Collier and Robert P. Simmons, have taken out nomination papers, but only one other candidate, Jack W. Kelley, dry cleaning firm owner, has filed for the office.

A native of Kentucky, White moved to California in his early childhood. He studied management and engineering at the University of Southern California, and moved to Corte Madera in 1959.

He is a buyer for Fibreboard Corp. in San Francisco, and was appointed Jan. 16, 1967, to fill a Corte Madera Planning Commission vacancy created by the resignation of Albert J. Boro. White's term expires May 1, 1969.

He is a charter member of the Mariner Cove Improvement Association, having served two terms as a treasurer, and is presently vice president. He is a past master of a San Francisco Masonic Lodge, and has been active in Boy Scout work.

White said he plans to retire from Fibreboard April 30, and would devote his time to problems facing Corte Madera. He said he is especially concerned with the high property tax level.

Paper Contract Progress Cited

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Slow but steady" progress is reported in negotiations between the striking Mailers Union and the San Francisco Printing Co.

The plant, which prints the afternoon Examiner and the morning Chronicle, has been shut down since Jan. 5.

Talks with the mailers involved noneconomic issues, Kagel said yesterday. Agreement already had been reached with the photoengravers, but there were 13 other unions to be negotiated with.

LBJ Awards 12 Medals In Science

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Johnson awarded the nation's highest science medal today to 12 scientists, including three born in Russia.

At a White House ceremony, the chief executive gave National Medal of Science awards to Igor I. Sikorsky, a helicopter pioneer; Gregory Breit, a Yale physicist, and George B. Kistiakowsky, a Harvard chemist. All three American scientists were born in the Soviet Union.

The medal, given by the National Academy of Sciences, also went to:

Jesse Beams, a University of Virginia physicist; Francis Birch, a Harvard geologist; Paul J. Cohen, a Stanford University mathematician; Kenneth S. Cole, a University of California biophysicist; Louis P. Hammett, a Columbia University chemist; Harry F. Harlow, a University of Wisconsin psychologist; Michael Heidleberger, a New York university pathologist; Edwin H. Land, inventor of the Polaroid camera; and Alfred H. Sturtevant, a California Institute of Technology biologist.

Two Fairfax Aides To Run

Two incumbent Fairfax officials, the city clerk and city treasurer, will run for the posts in the April 9 election.

Mrs. Frances Lestanguet has been city clerk since 1965 when she was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. Alice Leonsesio, who retired.

Mrs. Lestanguet has resided in Fairfax since 1951. She is a member of the Catholic Daughters of Fairfax and of the Women's Guild of St. Rita's Roman Catholic Church.

She and her husband, Jean F. Lestanguet, reside with their three children at 135 Meena Street.

A neighbor, Mrs. Dorothy A. McGlothlin of 150 Meena Avenue, will run to continue her 12 years as city treasurer.

She is a past president of the Central School Parent-Teacher Association in Fairfax, past president of the local chapter of Native Daughters of the Golden West, past president of the fire department auxiliary and on the youth activities council.

Mrs. McGlothlin, a widow, has three adult children. She has resided in Fairfax for 33 years.

George A. Pagni, mayor of Fairfax, has taken out nomination papers for city treasurer but has not filed them. Neither of the women has yet filed, but both say they will by the deadline at noon Thursday. Mrs. Lestanguet is unopposed for the clerk's post.

Hebrew was a dead language in the Galilee of Jesus's time. Torah readings had to be translated into Aramaic for the benefit of synagogue congregations. Galilee's polyglot populace also spoke Greek and Latin.

Ferguson Is 7th To Enter Council Race

Douglas P. Ferguson, 29-year-old San Francisco attorney, today became the seventh candidate in the crowded Sausalito City Council election April 9.

Ferguson, born in Oakland and reared in Berkeley, has lived in Sausalito five years, with a one-year hiatus when he worked for the federal government in Washington D.C.

He served on the committee of 100 for the Sausalito School District, and has been legal adviser for the Save Our Shores Committee, served on the legal committee for the Golden Gate Headlands Committee, is chairman of the Juvenile Court Committee of the San Francisco Barristers Club, and is an adviser to the Seven Step Foundation Youth Project.

He is a member of the San Francisco law firm of Ackerman, Johnston, Norberg and Parkinson. He was an undergraduate at Harvard and received his law degree at Stanford. He and his wife, Jane, live at 45 Cloud View Road with their sons, Aaron, 1, and Seth, 4.

In his opening campaign statement, Ferguson said "Sausalito is famous for the determination of its citizens to preserve its culture and beauty. I am concerned, however, that this . . . can be self-defeating unless coupled with greater community cooperation. A good example . . . is the recent library referendum which brought into bitter opposition a number of Sausalito citizens having substantially the same goals.

"I want to bring to the council an understanding of such issues as they affect all interested parties and to promote a constructive adustment of such differences and opions."

The city council field shapes up this way:

Incumbent Councilman Alexander R. Imlay is running for re-election, and Mayor Mel Wax announced yesterday he is not. Still undeclared is Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin, whose term also expires this year.

Other candidates are Planning Commissioner George C. Hoffman, restaurant owner Robert Martin Sr., manufacturers' representative Sam Marinoff, artist Serge Trubach, and Mrs. Robin Sweeny, who has worked with several waterfront conservation groups.

To Celebrate In New Orleans Style—

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Mardi Gras in Novato?

Yes, masked and costumed women and men will participate in the grand march, then unmask before a dinner of Shrimp Gumbo served in the New Orleans tradition.

And the authenticity of the celebration will certainly be in a large part due to the research of Mrs. David Price Jones.

The Gourmet Section of the Novato Branch, American Association of University Women will celebrate Mardi Gras on Saturday, rather than on Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 27, the last day before the beginning of Lent, "The Feast Before That Fast" at the William Eckhoff home in Novato.

Mrs. Jones, president of the Novato Branch of AAUW, moved to De Ridder, La., from Weed when she was a fifth grade student. She lived in Louisiana during her school years, graduating from Louisiana State in Baton Rouge.

She came to Novato via Sacramento, where she met and married her husband, now a Novato attorney. They have a five month old daughter, Whitney.

It was during her college years that Patricia Kay, known as Kay to her friends, attended several carnivals and the Mardi Gras and became fascinated with the lore attached to the yearly celebration. Schools of the southern part of Louisiana are all closed so students may participate.

Kay not only was invited to be a spectator at one of the balls where a girl friend was among those invited to dance but also took part in the parade, riding on one of the many decorated trucks.

THE MARDI GRAS is the last day only of carnival. Carnival is the social season in New Orleans, when the debutantes achieve social status largely by the balls over which they may be chosen queens or serve as maids.

Carnival organizations or "Krewes" are secret societies and are closed affairs with rosters that seldom exceed 200 persons, Mrs. Jones said. At most balls only the men who belong to the club wear costumes and masks. At the Novato Mardi Gras both men and women will wear costumes and masks.

The four major krewes are Momus, Proteus, Rex and Comus. When Rex, in his role as King of Carnival visits the ball of Comus at midnight Mardi Gras ends. The only king that is ever known outside the Krewes is Rex.

The tradition of the New Orleans Mardi Gras is French and first resembled the one held in Paris. It was in 1699 that a party of men from France stopped to rest beside a small bayou near the mouth of the Mississippi River. Remembering that back home in their native France maskers were filling the streets that night the men sentimentally named the stream Bayou Mardi Gras. By 1766 when Don Antonio de Ulloa took possession of the colony of Louisiana for Spain Mardi Gras was an estabished custom.

FOLLOWING the unmasking at the Eckhoff home, a Shrimp and Gumbo will be served. The recipe is from "River Road Recipes," a cook book published from recipes of the Junior League of Baton Rouge. River Road from Baton Rouge along the Mississippi to New Orleans is a section famous for good cooking, influenced principally by the French and Spanish and it is Creole cooking.

One of the main ingredients in Gumbo is file, an herb found in the spice section of grocery stores, made from powdered sassafras leaf. It was formerly made by the Choctaw Indian who called sassafras Kombo, from which we get the word "Gumbo."

Kay says she passes a bowl of file to her guests and suggests sprinkling just a small portion over the gumbo.

Okra is another important part of Gumbo, the thickening ingredient. File, pronounced feelay, should never be added to the Gumbo while it is cooking as it tends to make the Gumbo stringy and unfit to eat.

FRESH OKRA is sometimes hard to find, Kay said, but it is obtainable in the frozen food sections of most grocery stores. Allow the whole pod to partially thaw before cutting into medium size pieces.

FIRST YOU make a roux — with 2 tablespoons of oil and 2 tablespoons of flour. Melt the oil in a thick pot or skillet. Add the flour and stir constantly until dark brown, being careful not to burn. If there is the slightest indication of

GUMBO, derived from the Choctaw Indian name for sassafras, Kombo, will be served at the AAUW Mardi Gras Saturday. Mrs. Roger Brassfield, left, decorations chairman and Mrs. Carlos Rivamonte, chairman of the Gourmet Section, check over the ingredients for the Shrimp Gumbo. Mrs. David Le Fevre is food chairman.

SWEET VALENTINES

Satin, Ribbon And Lace Will Decorate Valentines In 1968

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The sentimental valentine is back in all its satin, ribbon and lacy glory.

Credit its return in large part to the war in Vietnam, and to a lesser degree to the fact it's leap year and open season on eligible males.

But the greeting card industry has found that in times of war, there is a surge of sentiment both on the home and battlefronts. This year, for instance, local organizations scattered around the nation got together to send both Christmas greetings and valentines to men in Vietnam, whether they knew them or not.

Men in the combat zones are affected too. During the early days of World War II, men fighting in the North African campaign actually mailed more holiday greetings to the folks at home than the folks at home sent, reported Stephen Q. Shannon, executive director, the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers.

SHANNON SAID that Valentine ranks second to Christmas in the number of cards mailed, but represents only eight to 10 per cent of the total greeting card business. Christmas accounts for more than 50 per cent. Trailing Valentine's day are Easter and Mother's Day about even in numbers.

Valentines these days are for expression of friendship, as well as love. And there are any number especially for children.

The custom of sending Valentines actually pre-dates Christianity and grew from a Roman festival, the Feast of Lupercalia, dedicated to the pastoral god, Lupercus, and to the goddess of love, Juno.

As part of the merry-making, Roman maidens placed their names in an urn set up in the public square and courageous bachelors were each entitled to one draw to determine "blind dates," as it were, for the coming year.

THE CHRISTIAN church for centuries fought these "pagan love lotteries," but they persisted. Written Valentines appeared about the year 1400, says the greeting card association.

The first valentines in America were exchanged during Revolutionary days. By the middle 1850's the publishing and distribution had become a sizeable business.

Textured Rugs

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rug textures and patterns emphasize varied trends in interior design for spring, leading manufacturers reported at the January home furnishings markets.

There were plenty of shags, including those with pile yarns two or three inches long, others with a shorter, tousled look. Textures included carpets with a look of brocade and damask, those with velvety cut pile surfaces, tight-looped surfaces and random-sheared textures with a new precision in design.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Drink Sneaking Mother May Be On Her Way To Alcoholism

DEAR HELEN:

Ever since the divorce, my mother has been pouring down liquor. When she comes home from work she fixes a drink before she gets in her housecoat, and from there it never stops. Often she won't even eat the dinner I fix for her.

I complained, so now she has taken to sneaking drinks between drinks She has hidden bottles everywhere, and, when they go empty sooner than she thinks they should, she accuses me of guzzling her booze. I wouldn't touch the miserable stuff after watching what it has done to her.

She is seeing a guy who is at our house constantly. He's no good, can't hold a job, is just using her. He's a lush, too.

She won't admit she is an alcoholic. She says as long as she can hold her job, it means she can hold her liquor. But, Helen, she can't even lift her head some mornings, she's so sick. How much longer will she last?

I love her and want to help, because I remember how she used to be and know she could be that way again. But what can I do when she says professional help or A.A. is for drunks? — M.K.

DEAR M:

An alcoholic can't be helped until she admits she needs it. That time may be sooner than you think. Drunks protest loudest just before they break down.

Next time your mother is too sick to hold her head up, take her to a doctor, and don't pull punches when telling him the facts. Maybe he can make her face them! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My mother is impossible. I'm almost 15, but she won't let me car-date. She's got to meet all the boys that ask me out and know just where I'm going. Can you imagine saying, "Come in, my folks want to inspect you?" She's always telling me what to do and don't. I'm old enough not to have a nursemaid. All my friends say I'm very grown-up and look about 18. If I'm immature, like my mother says, then what is maturity? — BUGGED, BOSSED AND BURNING

DEAR B. B. AND B:

Being grown-up isn't merely looking 18, chum. You're mature if you:

1. Know your limitations and work to eliminate them. Likewise know your good qualities and work to make them better.
2. See the other person's side of it.
3. Face your mistakes squarely without pulling weak excuses or shifting blame.
4. Don't hide behind sulks or self-pity.
5. Usually keep your cool and your temper.
6. Can accept a "No" from above without argument.
7. Aren't put-offy, or easily put on.
8. Think ahead to head off trouble before it starts.
9. Shoulder your fair share of everything from work to reprimands.
10. Stand up for your beliefs, even against that tired old refrain, "But everybody does it." (And be sure those beliefs make good sense!
11. Recognize the good in others, even parents.
12. Budget your time wisely, and understand that success is learned.
13. Can turn jealousy into cheerful competition.
14. Work toward worthwhile and realistic goals.
15. Realize we're all immature in one way or another, and the 14-year-old who insists she isn't is the most!

Stop griping and get responsible, honey, and you'll soon earn all the privileges you can handle. — H.

THIS WAS THE scene in August, 1918, almost 50 years ago as a group of women were sworn into the Marine Corps to serve as replacements for men bound for frontline duty in France. Today Women Marines are serving both stateside and alongside men of the Corps at duty stations overseas. (AP Wirephoto)

25TH YEAR

Women Marines Celebrate Birthday

By JOY MILLER

(AP) In World War II, when every available soldier was needed overseas, the U.S. armed forces, rather grudgingly, began to take in women for stateside duties "to free a man to fight."

There were Army WACs, Navy WAVEs, Coast Guard SPARs and Women Marines.

"The Marine Corps was the last to come around," recalls Col. Ruth Cheney Streeter, USMCWR, the first director of the Women Marines. "I don't think the men liked the idea very much. It took them a while to get used to it." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ashby Streeter of Mill Valley.

But get used to it the men did, and as the Women Marines celebrate their 25th birthday today, they are very much a part of what has been called "the finest fighting force in the world."

"The main thing we were proud of was that we were called Marines, not given some auxiliary title. That put us very much on our mettle to live up to the great Marine tradition," says Col. Streeter, who served as director from February 1943 to December 1945, and now lives in Morristown, N.J.

Besides the birthday of their founding, Women Marines have two other anniversaries to observe this year:

ON JUNE 12 it will be 20 years since they were admitted to regular status in a peacetime Marine Corps, under the Women's Armed Services Integration Act of 1948.

On Aug. 12 it will be 50 years since 305 women, called Marinettes, served briefly but efficiently in the Corps to replace men bound for frontline duty in France.

In terms of feminine progress it might seem that more than half a century separates those young women of World War I, clad in long, dark skirts, doughboy jackets and a daring innocence, and the 2,700 capable Women Marines of today in their chic, forest-green uniforms, who can go from their charm school classes to war-torn Vietnam without turning a well-groomed hair.

IN QUANTICO, Va., where the Marines train their women officers, is the first Marine Corps Grooming Lab, patterned after Pan American World Airways, stewardess school. Pan Am trained 20 Women Marines, who are now serving as instructors for the force.

The grooming lab has pastel walls, soft carpets and special lighting effects that seem a world away from the early Women Marine quarters of World War II: gray walls, concrete "decks" and bare lightbulbs.

It was with this decor that the women hit a peak strength of nearly 19,000. Then the number fell for a couple of years after the war to no more than a hundred volunteer Women Reserves on active duty.

WHEN Congress authorized acceptance of women to the regular Marine Corps in 1948, recruitment began. Today Women Marines are serving both stateside and alongside men of the Corps at duty stations in Okinawa and Japan.

Beef And Milk

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI)—If tastes of more than 2,000 Rutgers University students are any criterion, beef and milk are here to stay.

That fact and remarkable agreement between young men and young women in their choice of foods were among the findings in a recent food preference survey conducted by the Department of Food Services at the State University. The hot dog was No. 23 on the list for favorite meats with the boys — and No. 28 with the girls. Maybe, said investigators, it's because the checklist called them frankfurters. Hamburgers, meanwhile, ranked eighth with the girls and seventh with the boys.

Peel 2 pounds of uncooked shrimp and devein. Add 1 large can tomatoes when okra is nearly cooked. Then add 2 quarts water, 1 bay leaf, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, 3 pods garlic, (optional) and red pepper, a must, says Mrs. Price. Cover and cook slowly for 30 minutes. Kay also adds 1/3 bell pepper and 1 stalk of celery to the above recipe. The recipe served over rice, serves six to eight persons.

THE GUMBO is much better if cooked the day before the party. Kay suggests serving very sour French bread, a tossed salad and a good dry white wine to finish off the meal.

The Mardi Gras will be over in Novato when the guests have had their dinner.

Use Very Seldom

Commercial drain cleaners which contain lye are helpful but should be used very seldom. Take special precautions with lye since it can cause permanent damage to porcelain and other materials, not to mention the burns you can receive if you are not careful.

Two New Drunken Driving Bills Due

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Many Californians are painfully aware of a 16-month-old state law requiring suspected drunken drivers to take a chemical test for sobriety or lose their driver's license for a half year.

But once this test is administered, there is no further law spelling out just what amount of alcohol in a person's blood mades him drunk for purposes of prosecution.

And at least one legislator says you can be convicted of drunken driving in one area of the state for having a certain blood alcohol content, while in another area that level isn't high enough for conviction.

So two bills face legislators today to set such a statewide "presumptive limit." The question isn't should a limit be set, but how tough should it be?

The stiffer measure is by the chairman of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee, Republican W. Craig Biddle of Riverside. It sets the start of the drunkenness state at a blood alcohol level of .10 of one per cent. That's about four highballs for the average person.

In contrast, Democratic Assemblyman F. James Bear of San Diego is carrying a bill setting the level at .19 of one per cent, something like six cocktails or tall glasses of beer.

Bear also has proposed another measure to require mandatory jail sentences of at least five days for convicted drunken drivers who do more than $200 in personal injury or property damage.

Because state law does not specify the drunkenness level, he says, courts now hire an expert to tell the jury what state of intoxication is generally produced by a certain blood alcohol content.

The discrepency, Bear says, is that some authorities maintain that a person is drunk at the .10 level, while most authorities and courts go by the more liberal .15 level.

"I'm willing to concede that when you are at .10, you are a danger on the highway," Bear says.

For that reason, he's proposed a new offense—"impaired driving" — for a motorist with a level between .10 and .15. The offense would be a misdemeanor, go on the motorist's driving record and carry a maximum $150 fine.

Burton Seeks Probe Of Economic Survey

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Democratic legislator today sought a thorough investigation of Gov. Ronald Reagan's businessmen's survey to put fears of possible conflict-of-interest to rest.

The lawmaker, Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, said he planned to seek the study by the Assembly Governmental Efficiency and Economy Committee.

The businessmen — formally tagged the governor's survey on efficiency and cost control—reported to Reagan last week on economies of saving or postponing costs totaling $655 million in state, local and federal funds.

The study involved about 280 business firms, organizations and private citizens and contained about 2,000 specific recommendations ranging from delaying construction of new college campuses to installing more automatic equipment.

At the time, Sen. Anthony Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, warned of possible conflicts of interest and asked Reagan to identify the areas each expert researched and the amount of money each firm contributed to the study.

Burton made the request in a formal way — by proposing a house resolution calling for a study.

He said that if businessmen's employers continued to pay their salaries during their six months of work with the state it was "like making a contribution to the Reagan Administration."

Burton expressed concern that if those same businessmen came before a regulatory agency — or for that matter any agency—which they investigated "they might get favored treatment."

"I want this investigation so we can put these fears to rest once and for all," Burton said.

He suggested the GE&E Committee, headed by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, because its name resembled the title of the task force.

Both houses of the legislature were to return to Sacramento today from the three—day Lincoln Birthday holiday to begin the sixth week of the 1968 session.

In another development, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, was prepared to introduce a resolution seeking an investigation by the municipal and county government committee into operations of the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG).

Knox called theft of $510,000 from the organization "appalling" and called for a legislative study to determine what needs to be done to protect the association's funds in the future.

Officials charged Thomas N. Truax, 26, Berkely, with three counts of grand theft after the money, in accounts holding a $1 billion federal grant, was discovered missing. He was assistant administrator of the association.

Surveyor Briefly Awakened For More Pictures

PASADENA (UPI) — Surveyor 7 snapped a half dozen pictures of the moon's surface early today but was shut down by scientists when temperatures rose inside the craft.

The moon robot was reactivated in a record 56 seconds yesterday by a radio comand from a tracking station in Madrid, Spain, to end its two-week hibernation during the lunar night and a week of warming up after dawn.

A spokesman for Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the first pictures were "not bad." The photographs were taken in the 200-line mode by the craft's rotating television camera. In the days ahead, pictures will be taken in the sharper 600-line mode.

Ruddock Returns Belvedere Papers

Merritt K. Ruddock, who previously took out candidacy papers for re-election to the Belvedere City Council, filed them today.

Incumbents Thomas S. Price and Edwin J. Drechsel filed their papers last week.

No other candidates have yet announced they will run in the April 9 municipal election against the three incumbents, whose terms are expiring.

New Israeli Warning On River Skirmishes

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Premier Levi Eshkol said yesterday if Jordan continued its armed provocations along the Jordan River, Israel would be forced to take measures to halt them. Defense Minister and war hero Moshe Dayan was expected to underline Eshkol's warning today.

Addressing the opening of the third World Congress of Jewish Journalists, Eshkol warned Jordan that Israel would not tolerate such acts.

Gen. Dayan today was delivering his first policy statement to the Knesset (Parliament) on the Jordanian border situation since he took office on the eve of the June 5-10 Arab-Israeli war.

A Jordanian government spokesman in Amman said it was Israel and not Jordan that was responsible for the border clashes. He said the U.N. Security Council's attention will be drawn to what he termed Eshkol's open threat against Jordan.

Even as Eshkol was speaking yesterday, Jordanian and Israeli troops were exchanging rifle and machine gun fire for the third straight day across the River Jordan cease-fire line. Each side blamed the other for starting it. Neither reported casualties.

Israeli authorities yesterday reported picking up 74 suspected Arab saboteurs in Nablus Suk in a house-to-house search.

Negro Businesses Boycott Continues On Rights Issue

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — Negroes say they will continue their boycott of businesses in this central South Carolina college town in a fight for city compliance with civil rights demands.

The action followed an outburst of violence last Thursday on the campus of predominantly Negro South Carolina State College. The clash between students and police left three students dead and 36 persons injured.

Business leaders said the boycott, imposed yesterday, was effective. Spokesmen said there had been a drastic reduction in sales because of both the boycott and the city's curfew.

Gov. Robert McNair held a five-hour meeting with state college's board of trustees yesterday, and told newsmen there were "no immediate plans to resume classes" at either State College or the adjoining Claflin College, a privately owned, predominantly Negro school.

More than 600 National Guardsmen were held on duty at Orangeburg in support of 200 state patrolmen. Informed sources said the guardsmen would be kept on duty throughout this week.

Negro sources said there was no action planned as a result of the past week's developments.

The violence began one week ago when Negro students tried to desegregate a bowling alley and were refused admittance. The students marched on the downtown area, smashing store windows and overturning cars.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Nightmares, Associated Scares May Seem To Be Waking Periods

VAN DELLEN

According to Doctor Sim C. Liddon of Pittsburgh, the term nightmare originally meant a "night-fiend" who was responsible for terrifying dreams. These demons sat on the chest of the victim paralyzing him and crushing his breath away.

NIGHTMARES are different from other anxiety dreams. During a nightmare the victim may be unable to move or speak (sleep paralysis); he may make violent efforts to move his arms as though throwing off a weight which is holding them down. Sleep paralysis may be aggravated by the feeling of being awake, yet utterly helpless.

The ensuing anxiety can be the most terrifying aspect of the nightmare.

Hypnagogic hallucinations may coexist. These experiences occur just prior to falling asleep or in the transition between sleep and wakefulness.

THE VICTIM may "see" persons or animals near the bed while he is paralyzed from fright.

There is evidence that sleep paralysis and hypnagogic hallucinations are definitely related to dreams.

Man exhibits rapid eye movements (REM) during that stage of sleep in which dreaming takes place. During REM sleep, man is in a highly excitable state.

If slumber continues, the individual never knows how close he was to awakening.

SLEEP PARALYSIS and hallucinations occur during this wakening state of the REM period. It is logical to assume that a nightmare triggers these strange reactions in susceptible people — a finale to a visit by the "night-fiend."

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompaines request to the I-J.)

ENDING HOT FLASHERS

A reader writes: When am I going to stop waking up several times at night, flashing and sweating? This has been going on for six months, since my periods stopped.

REPLY

Any night now, provided your physican prescribes estrogen hormones. Meanwhile, if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on the menopause, you will better understand some of the symptoms accompanying this phase of life.

IS CANCER A GERM?

V. S. E. writes: Many people believe that everyone is born with the cancer germ. Is this true?

REPLY

Until the cause of cancer is discovered, we cannot say whether there is a germ of truth in this statement. Viruses are believed to cause certain cancers, but we do not know when or how they enter the body.

FINGERS SPLIT

C. B. writes: Why does the skin on my fingers split in the winter time? They are just fine in hot weather.

REPLY

There are various causes but cold and dryness are high on the list. In other words, it is usually a form of chapping. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on skin cracks.

SKIN CANCER

T. E. writes: What is an epithelioma?

REPLY

AGE ENLARGE EARS?

R. W. writes: Do the ears grow larger with age?

REPLY

They tend to elongate and there are bony changes. As a rule, they seem larger.

Hitchhikers Face Marijuana Charge

Two San Francisco youths hitchhiking on Highway 101 were cited to the juvenile bureau yesterday when a California Highway Patrol officer reported he found on them what appeared to be marijuana and paraphernalia for using it.

Officer Jesse J. Lewis Jr., reported he searched on 16-year-old and one 17-year-old boy after finding them on the freeway at 2:45 p.m. at the north end of the Golden Gate Bridge.

In addition to being charged with suspicion of possession of marijuana the two also were charged with failure to obey signs prohibiting pedestrians on the freeway and with having insufficient identification.

Mill Valleyan Is Expert On Hawaii's First Stamps

Westerberg's book on the rare stamps, which he spent 30 years preparing went on sale in Honolulu last Thursday. He returned from the islands this week after autographing copies at the Honolulu book shop.

The book, "Plating the Hawaiian Numerals," was printed by Mission Press of Honolulu and is also available at San Francisco stamp shops. The previous authoritative work on the stamps was published in 1909.

The numerals were stamps printed in one-cent, two-cent and five-cent denominations from 1859 to 1865. Printed on a hand press on unperforated paper, they were cut out with scissors for use.

Each set of stamps was likely to be different because the press had fonts of old, worn type which frequently broke off.

Westerberg, of 502 Hillside Avenue, has spent his spare time since 1939 studying Hawaiian stamps. He is a retired designer for an engineering firm and a former motion picture titler.

His Mill Valley roots go back to childhood. He was a member of Tamalpais High School's first freshman class in 1908.

Westerberg's stamp book is expected to give the stamp world a better idea of how many of the numerals still exist. It contains a check-off chart of the known variations.

A New Theater Group Is Formed

A new theater group, called the Marin Actors Co., is being formed by Donald A. Carr and Ann Armour of San Anselmo.

"Experienced actors will find a new stage for their talents in our company," said Carr, who lives at 39 Cedar Avenue.

The first play of the Marin Actors Co. will be presented this spring in San Rafael.

Last year, as Armour-Carr Productions, Carr and Miss Armour produced the comedy hit "Champagne Complex" at a dinner-theater at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael.

'John Brown's Body' Reopens Ford Theater

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new career of historic Ford's Theater began last night with a poetic drama of stirring relevancy, "John Brown's Body."

The presentation by the National Repertory Co., first at the brick-faced edifice on 10th Street since an assassin's bullet struck down President Abraham Lincoln on April 14, 1865, launched a 14-week season by the company.

THE PURPOSE

Now the purpose is to transmute the elaborately and carefully restored playhouse into a shrine of cultural vitality instead of tragic memory.

So the premiere was held on the anniversary of Lincoln's birth. In the basement museum a "life mask" of the Great Emancipator made in 1860 is spotlighted. And a dedicatory note by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, under whose office the rehabilitation has been completed, stresses:

"May we learn to love this place as a living memorial to a man. I believe Mr. Lincoln would have wanted it this way."

Attending the opening were Udall and other high government officials, the ambassadors of a dozen nations and those arbiters of capital society, Mrs. Perle Mesta and Mrs. Morris Cafritz.

Perhaps it was because of the guest list, perhaps it was the inevitable if unspoken associations with the past which made the on-stage events proceed with a measure of untheatrical detachment. A few more performances should correct that reservation.

As the highly stylized, swift-scene narrative unfolded a compulsive silence appeared to engulf the spectators until the very end. Then a storm of applause welled up through the elegantly refurbished showcase.

The play is an adaptation from the poem by Stephen Vincent Benet, devised and directed by Jack Sydow with impressive clarity. Settings have been restricted to lighting effects that flash and stab on a broad cyclorama. The actors' costumes are sedately mute high-collar uniforms and floor-lenth gowns of no particular time or place.

GOOD ACTING

All emphasis is upon the words, the voices and simple gesture.

The cast handles multiple parts with high proficiency. Among them are G. Wood, tripling as Brown, Lincoln and Robert E. Lee, and Paul Collins, Anne Draper, Paul Massie and Ellen Holly as the youthful couples. From time to time, melodies of the era are vibrantly sung by the massed troupe.

An auspicious beginning on an enterprise which gives every indication of being an important new attraction for both theater buffs and capital visitors.

There will be a criticism of paintings after the program, according to Herta Rothschild, publicity chairman.

Auto Strikes Fire Hydrant

A San Anselmo woman, who apparently fell asleep at the wheel, drove into a fire hydrant at Bella Vista Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard early Sunday, San Anselmo police reported.

The hydrant was knocked down and water spouted about 25 feet high, San Anselmo firemen reported.

The driver, Mrs. Rose Crean, 48, of 19 Morningside Drive, suffered a cut scalp, police said. She was treated at Marin General Hospital.

SPADE LEAD

West leads the jack of spades, and those who don't read this column would try a finesse with dummy's queen. East wins with the king and returns a spade, setting up two more spade tricks for West. The defenders get three spades and two aces, and South is down one. Serves him right for reading the wrong paper.

The correct play, of course, is to play the ace of spades at the first trick. Now South goes after clubs and diamonds. The defenders can get their two aces, but only two spades.

USEFUL NINE

When West resumes spades, he must give South a second spade trick. If West leads the ten, dummy's queen forces out the king; and then the nine is good. If West leads a low spade, dummy plays low, and East plays the king to stop the nine from winning a trick; but then dummy's queen is good.

BEST DEFENSE

East's best defense is to lead a low heart when his ace of clubs is knocked out at the second or third trick. South must step right up with the king of hearts in order to force out the ace of diamonds; then he has nine tricks.

If South foolishly refuses the first heart trick, West switches back to spades. Now the defenders can take two spades, two aces and a heart, defeating the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no-trump, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ J 10 8 5
♥ Q 8 3
♦ A 7
♣ 9 7 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. Partner has 18 points at most, and you have only seven points. The combined total cannot be more than 25 points, which is seldom enough for game.

ALMANAC

The moon is between the first quarter and full phase. The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1635 the Boston Latin school, oldest educational institution in America, was founded.

In 1914 the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers Ascap was formed.

In 9145, Russian soldiers took Budapest after 49 days of fighting in which more than 50,000 German troops were killed and 133,000 captured.

In 1963, pirates seized a Venezuelan vessel 3480 miles north of Caracas. It was taken over by Brazil six days later and the pirates asked for asylum.

A though for the day: French novelist Andrew Maurois said, "Learning is nothing without cultivated manners . . . but when the two are combined in a woman you have one of the most exquisite products of civilization."

Anti-Pollution Work To Cost $2.4 Million

LOS ANGELES (BW)—Union Oil Co. of California is spending $2.4 million at its two major California refineries in the latest steps in a continuing program to improve the quality of water discharge to the Los Angeles Harbor and the San Francisco Bay.

Most of the new investment is scheduled for the company's Los Angeles refinery, where engineering is underway on two installations costing $1.7 million.

Board Slips Near Close Of Busy Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices weakened late this afternoon and the market closed with a fairly sharp loss. Trading was active.

In late dealings, losses outnumbered gains about 3 to 1 and the Dow Jones industrial average was down about 5 points.

In early trading the market was off only slightly and a number of issues were showing good gains as they bucked the general trend. The strength faded as the day wore on.

A published report that the Defense Department plans to send 10,500 more troops to Vietnam underlined the gravity of the Asian situation.

Benguet, the Philippine gold miner, was by far the most active stock and held a 1-point gain.

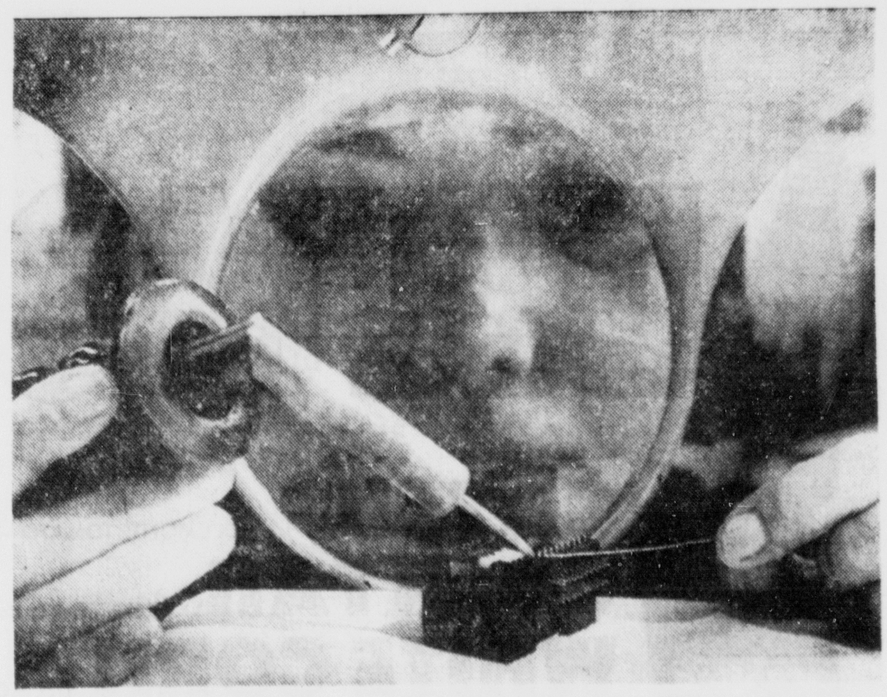
Among other active issues, Allis-Chalmers and Howmet were off about 2 while losses exceeding a point were taken by General Time, Standerd Oil New Jersey, McDonnell Douglas and Control Data.

Homestake, up 4, spearheaded a renewed updrive in the gold mining issues. Phelps Dodge, IBM, Raytheon and Alcoa held late gains of a point or so.

Down around a point were such issues as General Motors, Goodrich, Caterpillar, United Aircraft, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak, Xerox, Standard Oil of California and Eastern Air Lines.

Prices also weakened on the American Stock Exchange.

Russia is designing fishing vessels that can cruise and fish without crew. The fully automated craft will be controlled by a mother ship miles away.



NEEDS MAGNIFYING GLASS

A young girl uses a magnifying glass to help her solder wires at the IBM plant in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. Holding the assembly in place is a throw away plastic tool developed by IBM engineers which replaces a 36-piece tool at 1/3000th the cost. Its other advantages include improved testing procedures and a 25 per cent reduction in assembly operations. It also eliminates high maintenance costs associated with steel wool. (UPI Telephoto)

INVESTING

No Stock Promises A Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 16 and would like to invest in some stock that promises growth and is less than $20 a share. Would Roan Selection Trust or Hotel Corp. of America be wise choices? — R. B.

A. I should like, if I may, to suggest some change in your thinking. You are young and seem bright, but I think you should learn right now that no stock promises growth. We can only study the record of the company, the area in which it operates and the caliber of management — and even then we sometimes get fooled. I would not buy Roan Selection which operates copper mines in Zambia where the political climate can change rapidly.

I like Hotel Corp. because I think that Roger Sonnabend, who succeeded his father as president, has done a fine job. The stock has risen sixfold over the past year, and I believe part of the rise has been due to acutal takeovers of proposed merger of other chains by Trans World Airlines and International Tel. & Tel. I believe the stock is relatively high on a price-earnings basis and that it has speculative possibilities. For a boy your age I do not recommend it.

I would forget the $20 limit on the price of your prospective purchase. I advise you to aim a little higher and buy Ramada Inns, selling in the upper $20s and showing good growth.

Q. I bought General Telephone & Electronics at 25. However, the market has been vacillating so much that I am frightened to the point of selling. What is your advice, and what would be the ideal time to sell? — N.B.

A. The ideal time to sell is when a stock reaches its peak, but very few investors sell at the top or buy at the bottom. You hold a good stock, and I advise you to retain it.

Texas Consultant Firm In New Hands

Japanese Hotel Will Combine New, Old

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Japanese brought along both the old and new for their first major hotel in the Continental United States.

A fireworks spectacular and Shinto rites tonight are part of week-long ceremonies opening the Mikayo Hotel, a 14-floor structure which dominates the $15 million Japanese cultural and trade center.

172 ROOMS

The Mikayo's 172 rooms, which combine the ancient and modern of Japan, will house their first guests Thursday after three days of tours and previews.

The center, which covers five blocks in an urban renewal area on the edge of San Francisco's downtown district, will be officially dedicated in late March.

But Kintetsu Enterprises Co. of America, which owns the hotel, decided to open it and 14 shops in the adjacent Kintetsu Shopping Center this week.

The opening ceremonies include banquets, ribbon-cuttings, cocktail parties, a performance by the Nomura-Kyogen dance troup of Japan, a benefit tour, and tonight's private Shinto ceremony followed by fireworks fired from the roof of the hotel.

JAPANESE MOTIF

All rooms in the Mikayo follow a Japanese motif, with two-color combinations—orange and gold, and green and gold.

Suites feature tokonomas, slender wall niches displaying scroll and flower arrangements. All rooms have shoji and hand-painted fusuma screen. They also have Japanese manufactured color televisions and radios.

Two suites and two rooms, for special guests, will be located in the Japanese Consulate Building next door. Designed and furnished in Japan, the rooms have tatami mats, futons (beds) and private gardens. Twelve other guest rooms in the adjoining building combine East-West decor.

The largest Japanese restaurant in the country, a branch of the Suehiro Restaurants of Japan, will be operated by the hotel's owners in the adjoining shopping center. It will seat 300 persons.

LARGE SELECTION

A large selection of Japanese dishes—with marinated Suehiro steaks as the featured selection will be augmented by foods from Mongolia, Korea, Russia and other Asian nations which are enjoyed in Tokyo.

Kintetsu Enterprises is a subsidiary of Kinki Nippon Railway Co. Ltd. of Japan. The hotel will be managed by Western International Hotels Co., which operates the St. Francis and Sir Francis Drake hotels downtown.

LOOK MOM, NO CANDY!

No candy at Co-op checkstands! That means fewer cavities for Co-op kids, both little and big. (As we all know, for young teeth, candy is not dandy . . . you're astute to substitute fruit.) And mothers who shop Co-op are happy that there's no temptation or teasing for sweets at Co-op cash registers.

Whose bright idea was that? Mothers who shop Co-op, of course! When most of the mothers tell the management they prefer "no candy at checkstands," then that's the way the Co-op store is run . . . by gum!

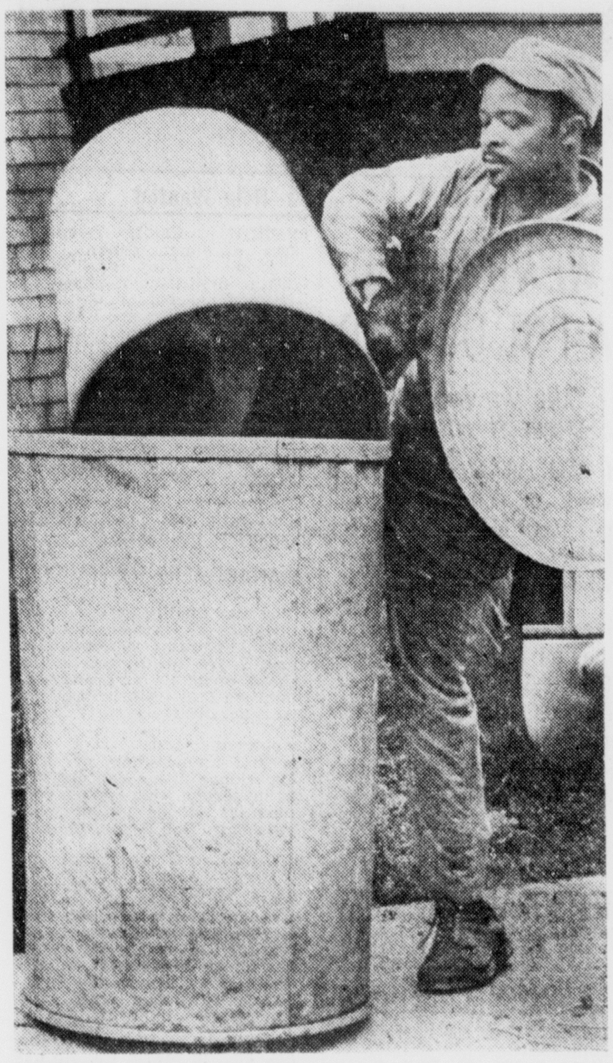
GARBAGE MAN'S LIFE

Up And Down Sausalito's Hills



LOADING — That clank you hear in the morning means your garbage has been collected. Hiram Trevillion of Richmond hoists a can in Sausalito as darkness turns to dawn light.

Story and photos
By ELLEN BRY

In the darkness before dawn, the clank of garbage cans is heard in Sausalito, as garbage men trot up and down the hills, carrying away what once was a gourmet meal, a treasured photo, broken toys, hair cuttings, old dog bones: offal.

Garbage men Hiram Trevillion, a 15-year veteran of carrying other people's throwouts, and his helper Earl Davis, for four years a garbage carrier, lope through backyards seeking overflowing garbage cans in the blackness.

He carried three can loads of garbage on his back in a huge metal cannister. He stepped quickly to the garbage truck, heaved the load in and trotted to the cab to drive the truck a half block farther to catch up wih Davis, already ahead of the truck.

He turned the corner and backed the nine-and-a-half-ton yellow truck, as wide as a car is long, up Second Street, steep as a ski jump.

Trevillion worked for a flatland garbage company for nine years before beginning to heave garbage for Bay Cities Refuse Service six years ago.

It took him a few months to learn the route, he said. "But driving in these hills — that took time to learn. I've driven in hills but none like these."

He loped away. Trevillion and Davis heaved garbage onto the truck, pulled a lever and the junk was smushed by the truck to the sound of grinding machinery.

The truck shot down Second Street, stopping in mid-block, and continued leapfrogging up the street. It was 6:20 a.m. now. A man in a sweatsuit jogged by in the darkness, keeping in condition.

Trevillion and Davis jogged up to the truck, heaved the garbage in and roared up South Street. The mimosa tree that was so lovely in the daylight hung down and swept a branch along the side of the truck. It would have swept off a garbageman hanging on the side, but Davis knew the route; he hung on the back.

"It takes a really determined mind to keep at this," Trevillion said.

He became a garbageman by choice. "I was 20 years old and saw those boys getting off at 10 o'clock in the morning, and I said, man, that's for me.

"Most of the boys who work are Southern or of Southern descent, and they don't mind the hard work. You don't find the city boys doing this unless they're hard up," Trevillion said. He loped off, carrying his can.

He was back again in a few minutes, can loaded. He dumped it into the truck.

"The worst is when they load up the can with bricks, dirt, leave the top off so it gets full of rain. Crab smells pretty bad but the weight's the worst."

He jogged up the hill.

Davis clambered up a slippery dirt bank, the kind parents warn their children about. He avoided the walk that is quaint in daylight, with its narrow gates and dainty stairs.

Trevillion is paid $26 a day; Davis, $20 a day, they say. Top pay is $27.50 a day, the garbage company president said. Trevillion said the union is pushing for higher wages.

On Sausalito Boulevard, the work became vertical. The road cuts across a hillside with houses above or below; 30 to 40 steps up and down or down and up, carrying garbage.

At one house it's 82 steps down, then up with the loaded can of garbage.

There was a basset barking, wagging his tail. He retreated to silence as Davis advanced into the steep yard.

"I've never been bitten but I've been chased a lot of times," Davis said. "I like the work. It gets to be heavy sometimes."

A Porsche snuffled up behind the big truck, geared down and eager. The driver waited patiently and the road-wide truck moved on to leave a space to slip through.

Others were awakening now. Lights came on yellow in black blobs of houses.

Trevillion wiped the sweat from his face with the back of his sleeve. He said he doesn't get many complaints, in Sausalito, maybe four a year compared to four a month when he collected garbage in Richmond. How does he answer?

"You're polite. You're standing there and the can is bearing down. . . ."

"Most of the people, they give us Christmas presents. I got a nice scarf. And they offer us coffe. It makes a man feel wanted," Treveillion said.

He waved to a small schoolbus.

It was light now. Trevillion backed the truck up Fourth Street, easing past cars coming down with drivers heading for work.

It was light now. Trevillion backed the truck up Fourth Street, approaching the veritcal, easing past cars coming down with drivers heading for work. He said good morning to the woman in a night gown covered with flowered bathrobe, with fuzzy slippers on her feet, who was pushing the last bit of garbage into her can.

They continued up and down the hills, as the truck began to waft out a sickly sweet smell of rotting food.

They drove the truck back to the dump in Richmond about 1 p.m. past gray chemical factories puffing gray smoke into an overcast gray sky.

There, a dredge brings up mud, bulldozers push garbage into the hole that's left, mud and dirt cover the garbage, leaving filled land and only the faintest odor.

About 100 acres are filled now. There will be 600 acres filled by 2025, better than the marshland now there, said Lewis Figone, president of the refuse company.

That garbage fill will become a golf course and marina, he said.

Police Checking Exposure Report

Two 12-year-old girls were the victims of indecent exposure yesterday in Novato, according to police reports.

A man in a light blue car, described as about 35 years of age with short blond hair and wearing only a white shirt and tie, called the girls to his car by Warner Creek on Tamalpais Avenue.

He asked the time, and when told 12:15 p.m., drove off, police reported.

UP, DOWN — Davis heads down a long flight of stairs with loads of garbage on his back. Collecting in Sausalito means climbing hundreds of steps each day.

Novato Districts Merger Idea Cools

The Novato Sanitary District Board last night threatened to withdraw from the merger study with the North Marin County Water District and the City of Novato, according to Charles Joseph, manager.

The board was angry at the action taken by the water district in agreeing to furnish sewer service to the development along San Antonio Creek on the Marin-Sonoma county line. This was area the sanitary district board felt that it should develop.

The water board voted to furnish this service at its meeting last Tuesday, Joseph said.

Decision — on a motion by Edwin Grundstrom, seconded by Clayton D. Payne — to withdraw from the study was held over until the sanitary board meeting next Monday night, Joseph said.

Another motion then carried that Thomas D. Hardcastle, chairman of the merger study committee, call a meeting of the committee as soon as possible to discuss this overlapping of service areas.

The master plan for the Novato Sanitary District prepared by Jenks and Adamson of Palo Alto, recommended that the district extend its area of service to the Marin-Sonoma county line, Joseph said.

The sanitary district, water district and City of Novato each have put up $250 for a merger study of the sanitary district with either or both of the other districts.

Grundstrom said that the water district action of last week was proof that the water district had predetermined that a merger with the water district should take place, Joseph reported. Grundstrom felt that this was contrary to the policy of an objective study by the three districts.

Marijuana Plea

Vacancy On Human Rights Panel Filled

Rev. Francis Geddes of the First Congregational Church of San Rafael was named today to the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors appointed Rev. Geddes to succeed Rev. John J. O'Connor, who resigned.

Supervisors also named these four members to the Emergency Services Committee, which will make recommendations on the type of ambulance service which the county should have.

Army Man's Execution Is Denied

Joaquin Antonio Herrera, 23, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to the execution-style murder of a San Rafael soldier.

Judge Harold J. Haley scheduled setting of a jury trial date for the El Salvador immigrant for Monday.

Washburn, whose wife, Mary Kathleen, was expecting their first child at the time of the murder, was found dead Jan. 9 in a vacant lot behind Herrera's apartment house.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales saiy the slaying "sounds like an execution," claiming Washburn was picked up at his own apartment house, driven in his own car to the vacant lot, then shot four times—in the heart, between the eyes and through the top of the head.

Board Asks City Help For Courthouse Sale

Marin County Supervisors today asked the county administrator to get together with officials of San Rafael for an all-out effort to promote the sale of the courthouse square.

The action followed a statement by Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen, calling for immediate action to dispose of the property "so that we may reduce the property tax in Marin County as a result of such liquidation."

Kettenhofen said that zoning restrictions imposed by San Rafael were making it difficult to sell the property.

Kettenhofen suggested that if the city restrictions prevent the sale of the courthouse, the county might offer the property on a ground lease and allow it to be developed under county ownership.

A motion by Supervisor Thomas T. Storer to have the county staff contact San Rafael and come back with recommendations passed by a 4-0 vote. Supervisor Peter H. Behr is on vacation.

Vandals Delay School Building

Laying of foundation work for new construction at Vallecito School, 50 Nova Albion Way, was delayed 24 hours yesterday by vandals, San Rafael police reported.

George J. Mendonca, foreman for Todd Construction, Santa Rosa reported nuts were stolen from the foundation, causing the delay.

4 BEDRM. FAM. HOME

with full dining room, a family room & project room off the garage, this is a fine floor plan for a family with children. But it is also on a cul-de-sac with a level entry trimmed by a rolling lawn with a birch tree in the middle, and teen-agers can dance or give BBQ's on the generous patio which is served directly from the family room. Oak trees give charm, shade, and screen the house from the neighbors. The home is virtually on one level with just a few steps up to the master bedroom suite, giving it a little special feeling. Sellers bought this property because it was a pretty house but practical — and located close to Greenbrae School and Redwood High. They are selling because their family has expanded and their 5 bedroom home will be complete in a matter of weeks. This is a happy house offered by pleasant sellers at a reasonable price and they hope you will enjoy the home as much as they have.

FREE TRIM, TOO

Argentina Is Staging War Against Hippie Increase

At least 108 youths have been picked up by the police in raids in Buenos Aires recently. Dozens more were taken into custody at beach resorts.

Many of the boys had their hair trimmed before being released. One complained a policeman cut off his shoulder-length mane with blunt shears. Some charged the police beat them.

The government two-month-old antihippie drive, stems from two pet interests of the military regime of President Juan Carlos Ongania: morality and anticommunism.

The drive has not been admitted officially but a top official said privately: "By leading a promiscuous sexual life and leaning generally toward an extreme leftism, the hippies represent both a moral and a political danger."

The hippies say the charge is nonsense.

"We have a right to live as we choose," a bearded, 20-year-old boy said. "We don't bother anybody and all we ask is to be left alone."

"We may practice free love, but that's nobody's affair except for the people involved," he added. "As for politics, there are no more Communists among us than you would find in any group of young, rebellious people anywhere in the world."

A hippie said police repression is backfiring. He said the hippie movement is spreading as a result.

"I don't think there were more than a few hundred of us in Buenos Aires some months ago," he said. "Now you count us by the thousands."

Long-haired boys in tight jeans and brightly colored shirts are now a common sight in Buenos Aires' fashionable shopping district, walking hand in hand with girls who often look like the boys — or the other way around.

Youth Is Booked On Contributing

Gary Sheppard Stevens, 18, of 2 Upper Road, Ross, was booked in county jail Sunday night on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old runaway Corte Madera girl.

Stevens was released on $315 bail and is scheduled for arraignment at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court. Corte Madera police said he drove the girl and three companions to a cabin in Sonoma County on Dec. 18. The girl was found and returned to her parents.

Larkspur Parks Inspection Made

The Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission took an inspection tour Saturday of Piper and Dolliver parks.

A baseball diamond has been installed at Piper Park and a backstop and stands contributed by the Babe Ruth League should be in place within 30 days, making the park ready for its first extensive use this summer, chairman Joseph P. Picetti said.

The city has had a continuing vandalism problem at Dolliver Park, Picetti said.

Who Cares About All The Awards?

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—There must have been a time when awards meant something — I mean, when there were few enough so you could remember who got what, and why.

I am sure, for instance, that when William Shakespeare accepted his statuette from the London foreign press association for writing the best play of the year, everyone remembered him for a while.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

But we seem to be living today in the public relations age, and since taelevision is the ideal publicity weapon—hitting a mass, nationwide audience with impact—we are also getting a severe coast-to-coast case of celebrity-itis.

Somehow the dismaying current preoccupation with trivia carries with it a dangerous scent of decay.

The endless, meaningless presentations of awards in many public areas of life, including television, are part of this preoccupation with trivia, false importance and false flattery.

Television's Emmy Awards, for instance, have had so many absurdly trivial categories—just to soothe people who have to be told they are brilliant as well as rich—that the prizes have little significance now.

And who can tick off the names of all the post-season football bowl games, with their numerous second-rate teams playing in second-rate events? There was a time there were only a few, and they all counted.

WHAT BEAUTY?

Who can tell one beauty pageant from another? Was it the Miss America event, or Miss Universe, or Miss Junior America, or Miss Teenage America, or the Hollywood deb star something-or-other? Who cares anymore?

Last night, as another instance, NBC-TV presented the annual Golden Globes awards in an hour special, with the prizes given out by the Hollywood Foreign Press Association.

If the Emmy Awards have little significance, the Golden Globes have even less. Various publications have attacked them of late, and the honest face is that the awards don't have any real status in town.

Yet NBC-TV has felt it worthwhile to allocate them an hour of air time on a national network. And one of the network's reasons, of course, is that there are many celebrities for the public to see. No matter what the prizes are—just so long as there are celebrities: major, minor, any category will do.

NBC-TV has some more awards coming up in another special tomorrow night with Johnny Carson hosting a prize-giving ceremony for pro athletes. Perhaps all these fellows will deserve their awards and maybe it is a worthy event to have—but will we remember anymore just who got what, and why, when Thursday rolls around?

Dominican Students Join Storer Camp

A committee of Dominican College students has been formed to work for the re-election of Supervisor Thomas T. Storer.

Donna Guerra, President of the Dominican College Young Democrats, said in a press release that Storer "understands the problems students in the country are having, and that is why we want to help him."

Mexico Judge's Killing Confessed

TIJUANA, Baja California (UPI) — Martin Careaga, former Baja California state supreme court justice, died yesterday of wounds inflicted by a self-confessed paid gunman, who said he was hired by an American.

Police arrested Wilfrano Garcia, who admitted the shooting, saying he was hired to kill Careaga by a wealthy landowner, an American of Mexican descent.

Police said the alleged contractor of the killer had disappeared, and was believed hiding in the United States. California police were asked for help, authorities said.

Noted Chemist Is Found Dead

OAKLAND (AP)—Dr. Bernard S. Greensfelder, 63, chemist with the Stanford Research Institute, was found dead in a basement workshop of his home here late yesterday.

He had been shot in the head and a pistol was at his side, but no notes were found, police said.

Greensfelder had a long career researching for the Shell Oil Co. before his retirement in 1962.

In 1945, he obtained a patent for producing synthetic benzene, a process he turned over to Shell, which he had joined in 1939.

Sausalito's Mayor Bows Out Of Race

Sausalito Mayor Mel Wax today announced that he will not run for a second term on the city council.

"My main worry was to be sure that enough good electable people would run — people who can carry on the work that I feel we got well under way," Wax said.

He singled out three declared candidates as "outstanding" persons for the three openings on the council: incumbent Councilman Alexander R. Imlay, Planning Commissioner George C. Hoffman and Mrs. Robin Sweeny. Three other candidates who have taken out nomination papers for the April 9 election are restaurant owner Robert C. Martin Sr., artist Serge Trubach and Sam Marinoff, a furniture manufacturers' representative.

Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin has not said whether she will run for re-election.

Wax, 49, also served four years on the city's planning commission.

A reporter for nine years with the San Francisco Chronicle, he left the newspaper in August to become the first director of public affairs and news at Channel 9, KQED.

General Re-Elected To Govern Paraquay

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — Gen. Alfredo Stroessner was re-elected Sunday to another five-year term as president of this landlocked nation that he has ruled with an iron hand since 1954. His Colorado Party was collecting about 75 per cent of the vote.

The Colorados won control of the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate, which was created under a new constitution last August. The constitution also removed the limitation of two terms for a president, allowing Stroessner to run for a third term.

Span Director Backs Special Paint Bidding

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District's decision to buy a special coating without competitive bidding was defended yesterday by director Thomas D. Hardcastle of Marin.

The decision was within the letter, but not the spirit, of the law, the Marin County Grand Jury declared this month.

The inorganic zinc coating is patented by Amercoat Corp., Hardcastle said, "so we don't know what the specifications would be for competitive bidding."

More important, he declared, "this is by far the most superior coating." Tests of other brands by the bridge district's staff, Hardcastle said, found that "all the others deteriorated."

The Navy requires that only this coating be used on naval vessels and the Maritime Administration "has endorsed this coating on all new vessels constructed for the Merchant Marine," he said. Both American President Lines and Pacific Far East Line consider the Amercoat product "by far the most superior," said Hardcastle, who is manager of staff services at PFEL.

The coating, Dimescote, costs the bridge district $12.45 a gallon. The grey coating is applied to bare metal after sandblasting, then is coated with the orange paint for which the bridge is famous. "It absolutely prevents rust," said Hardcastle.

The bridge district, however, is testing other coatings, "and it may very well be that there are other coatings which may serve as well," he said.

Taft Demands Fulbright Quit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Republican Congressman Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio says Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., should resign his post as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Taft told a Lincoln Club gathering last night Fulbright should resign because of differences with President Johnson over his Vietnam policies.

"There may be even a duty, so to speak, particularly on the part of those in public life," said Taft. "But there can be even a stronger duty to follow national policy as developed and committed, rather than try to sabotage it.

"Traditionally, the chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate has cooperated with the executive as to the policies developed by the White House," Taft said.

The Senate has voted to establish a 504,500-acre North Cascades National Park in Washington state. The House of Representatives will consider the measure this year.

Bank Scholarship Winners Announced

Coach Says Seals Not Putting Out

OAKLAND (AP) — Coach Bert Olmstead of the Oakland Seals went high in the arena for a scout's eye view of his National Hockey League team, hoping to discover why it's floundering.

"I saw a lack of effort, a lack of trying," said Olmstead. "They're not passing and not checking and not skating. Ninety-nine percent of the time when you're not skating you're not putting out."

Olmstead, a fiery competitor known as a hard loser, twice was named to the NHL All-Star team, in 1952-3 and 1955-6.

He still hates to lose. The Seals have won only 10 games of 53 played and are deep in the West Division cellar.

"I was sick and tired of looking at them," he said of the Seals. "And I'm sure they were sick and tired of looking at me. I had to get off the bench to keep my sanity," Olmstead said.

Olmstead, 40, was a star left winger for the Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs. He said he plans to scout the Seals from on high a few more games.

"I'm getting a new perspective," he said. "Maybe the players and I are made of different material."

The Seals were picked in preseason polls to finish first or second in the Western Division of the six expansion teams.

Oakland has had one winless streak of 13 straight games—10 defeats and three ties—and just ended a six-game winless string Sunday, beating Toronto. They are 15 points behind fifth place Pittsburgh.

"This is the first time many of the expansion players have moved. Maybe the move was too quick for them and their families to adjust. Their living habits and even their clothing are different," Olmstead said.

"They've had problems of resettling. They've had to change their living habits. Maybe they'll be better adjusted next season."

FIVE YOUNG PLAYERS INK GIANT CONTRACTS

The San Francisco Giants signed five young players this week, including one who may solve their long-standing second base problem.

Signed into the fold were second baseman Don Mason, third baseman Alan Gallagher, and outfielders Bob Bonds, Dave Marshall, and Bernie Williams.

It Takes Money To Run Semi-Pro Baseball Team

Of course you remember Joe. A San Rafael resident, he is a scout for the Atlanta Braves of the National League and well-known in local baseball circles as a builder of champions. Last season, for example, Anselmo's San Rafael Braves won the Western Baseball Association championship with a record of 33 wins, 7 losses, and in stiff competition across several western states. He's won so many titles you might call the Casey Stengel or Walt Alston of semi-professional baseball.

Joe appeared down in the dumps yesterday. "Well, there's a strong possibility that there will be no baseball in San Rafael this coming season," he started off. "Mr. Whitey Litchfield, who sponsored our Braves last season, has had to discontinue financial support so right now we have no means of operating this season. We're already entered to defend our WBA championship, but may have to withdraw unless some local merchants or organizations come to our rescue financially."

Partial Support From Braves

Anselmo's present team playing in the San Francisco Winter League is supported by the Atlanta Braves, but only for the winter.

In the past Anselmo's teams have been sprinkled generously with non-Marin talent. "This season," Anselmo said, "we have enough great talent right in our own backyard to field an all-Marin squad, including such players as Ben Burch, Doug Wilson, Bill Brody, Jay Widmer, Jerry Ard, Ron Cole and others."

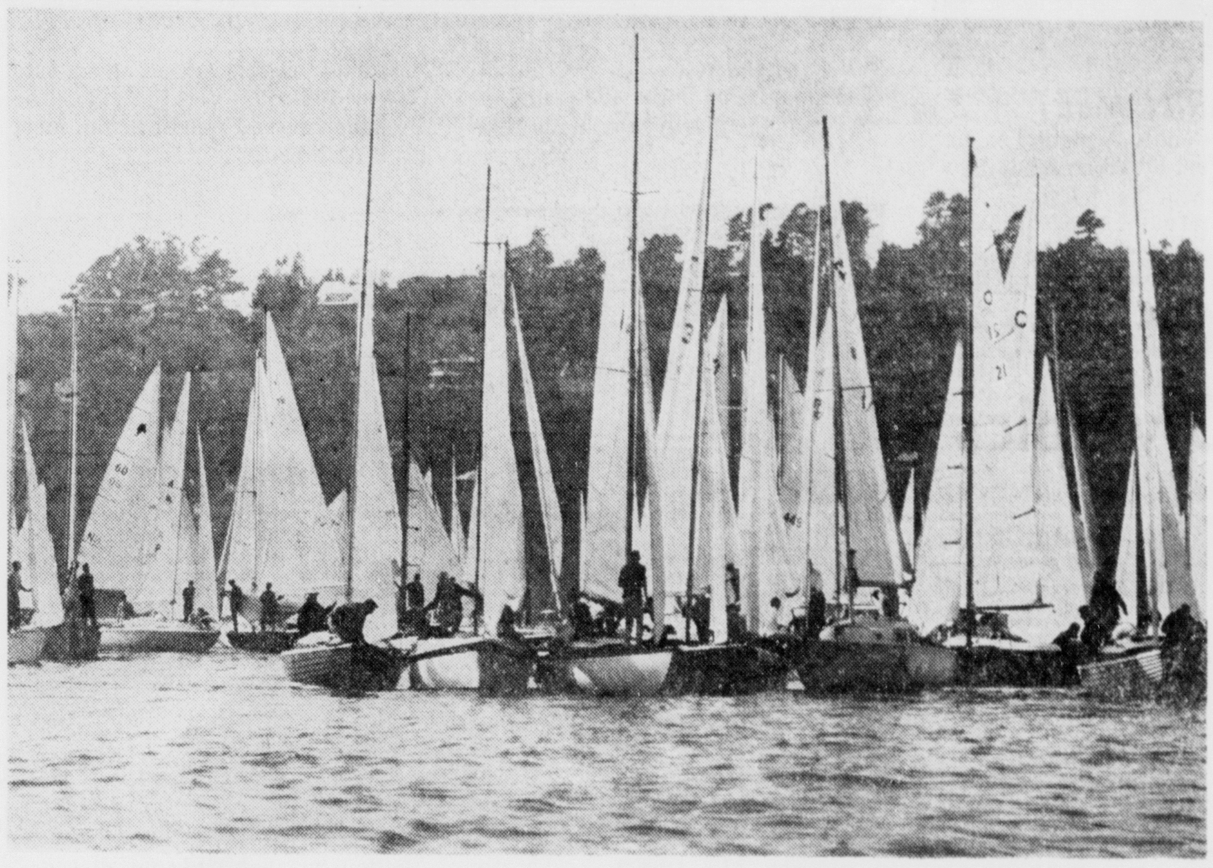
Anselmo said the Atlanta Braves have agreed to contribute uniforms and other equipment for the summer, but the team's traveling schedule creates a whopping expense. Games are played in Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Nevada (FALLON???!!!) and California, he explained.

The Braves' manager said financial support also would enable him to launch a series of baseball clinics for youngsters in Marin in conjunction with his semi-pro program. He already has enlisted the aid of several outstanding baseball veterans, including Joe DeMaestri, formerly of the Yankees, and ex-Met Bill Wakefield to participate in the youth program.

Hopes To Offer Free Admission

With adequate financial support, Anselmo would be able to offer free admission to all of the Braves' home games. The San Rafael Recreation Commission, obviously aware of the benefits offered by the Braves' youth program, has agreed to give them use of Albert Park free of charge.

What next? "Well, I just don't know," he shrugged. "I'll just have to keep searching for a sponsor or group of sponsors. I'm running out of time and if we don't come up with a solution soon I'll just have to drop the project. It would be a shame, too, because what I have planned I feel would be a great benefit to the community — a solid program for our Little League and Pony League graduates who now have no baseball program in San Rafael. I've checked with local athletes at high school and junior college level and have found tremendous interest in my proposal. Now, if I can only come up with some money . . ."



BEWITCHED, BOTHERED—AND BECALMED

Lack of wind and a four and one-half knot ebb tide caused all kinds of problems for the sailors in the Corinthian Yacht Club's final midwinter regatta of the season Sunday. Bumped hulls and tangled rigging resulted and many of the boats had to drop anchor to keep from going on the rocks at the Tiburon waterfront. A few boats managed to negotiate free of this traffic jam, but by 5:30 p.m. Sunday only six had finished the race. (Anna-Jean Cole photo)

Misfortune Hits U.S. Upset Hopes

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—Marielle Goitschel of France raced to a comeback victory in the women's ski slalom at the Winter Olympics today as American upset hopes were wiped out when three U.S. contenders were disqualified after brilliant first runs and halfway leader Judy Nagel fell in the decisive final heat.

Miss Goitschel, who trailed 16-year-old Judy, of Enumclaw, Wash., by .08 seconds after the first heat, seized the gold medal with a 45.59 seconds clocking in the finale for a combined 85.86. Nancy Greene, Canada's World Cup champion, was second and Annie Famose of France third.

TUMBLES

Miss Nagel, who zipped through her first run in 40.19 seconds to set the pace, tumbled only nine seconds into her second run, climbed to the top of the slope to make a second start and then straddled a gate and fell again before finally finishing gamely in 59.77.

The startling mishap followed the disqualification of Wendy Allen, Rosie Fortna and Kiki Cutter for missing gates on opening runs that would have put them in solid medal contention.

Wendy, of San Pedro, Calif., was set down after posting the best time of all entrants—a blazing 39.25—on the 425-meter, 56-gate racing strip. Miss Fortna, of Warren, Vt., and Miss Cutter, the 18-year-old crowd favorite from Bend, Ore., who was added to the U.S. Olympic squad with Miss Nagel shortly before the start of the Games, also were disqualified after placing fourth and fifth, respectively.

BRINGS TEARS

"It's just terrible luck for these great kids," said Bob Beattie, coach of the U.S. skiers, after the first-heat disqualifications. The American team has been hit throughout the Games with injuries and other misfortune.

Beattie was in tears following Miss Nagel's misadventures on the second run. "We just never have been able to get a break," he said. "Everything has gone against us, but the kids have never quit fighting."

Miss Nagel, smiling despite her mishap, said the course, described earlier by Beattie as extremely fast with difficult gate placings, had become even tighter on the second run. "I just don't know what happened," she said. "I really don't know. I fell twice, but I wanted to finish."

After the first run, Beattie said Misses Allen, Fortna and Cutter each had missed one gate—a different one for each girl—but the judges first told Kiki that she still was in the race. A look at films of the run showed her missing the gate, however, and she was out of it.

WASH-OUT

As a result of the disqualifications, and Miss Nagel's falls, what had appeared to be the U.S. team's finest moment to date in the Games became another medal washout.

Miss Goitschel, clocked in 40.27 and 45.59 for her two runs, finished with a combined time of 85.86. Miss Greene took the silver medal with a clocking of 86.15 and Miss Famose had an 87.89 total.

"This is the title I wanted to win most in the world," she said, then paid tribute to the spunky American girls. "They really didn't have any luck today," she said. "The Americans went all out in the first run. They are very strong, but I think they set up too fast a pace."

SKATING

While the U.S. girls were experiencing up-and-downs on the slopes, American champion Tim Wood of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., was one step behind three European leaders after the first two compulsory figures in men's figure skating competition.

Emmerich Danzer of Austria, the World and European champion, took the lead by two-tenths of a point over countryman Wolfgang Schwarz, with Patric Pera of France third and Wood fourth.

Wood moved up from fifth after the first figure, a "back outside three-change three," and his manager, Carl W. Gram of New York, said he expected the 19-year-old U.S. champ to continue to move upward in the remaining three figures tomorrow.

Big Ten Looks Into Charges Against Michigan Colleges

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A Big Ten examiner questioned the sports editor and a reporter of the University of Michigan student newspaper yesterday at the outset of a probe into possible violations of conference rules by Michigan and Michigan State athletes.

"Right now we are trying to see how extensive our work is going to be," said John D. Dewey, Big Ten examiner and assistant commissioner.

It was the paper, the Michigan Daily, that brought on the probe by alleging that athletes at both schools were receiving free meals, discounts and other special privileges.

Last Friday, the paper carried a copyrighted story saying Michigan athletes were given free passes to Ann Arbor movie houses, free clothing at a haberdashery and discounts at one restaurant.

There followed Sunday a second copywrighted story alleging MSU athletes received discounts at movie theaters, free meals in dormitory grills, charged long distance phone calls to coaches and had expenses paid for visits by their parents to the East Lansing campus.

"I can't say how long the probe will last," Dewey said.

"I will look into everything, report back to the commissioner, who will then go to the conference athletic directors. The directors themselves will determine whether or not there have been violations."

Dewey said a similar investigation would be conducted on the Michigan State campus.

"I have access to any pertinent university records for any school in the conference," Dewey said.

Both H.O. "Fritz" Crisler, athletic director at Michigan, and Clarence "Biggie" Munn, MSU athletic director, said they would investigate the allegations.

In San Francisco, MSU football Coach Duffy Daugherty said he would return to East Lansing this week.

Yanks Win 1st Hockey Match, 8-1

GRENOBLE, France (UPI)—Coach Murray Williamson of the U.S. Olympic hockey team wishes the winter games competition was just starting instead of nearing an end.

Williamson's wishful thinking, a normal reaction, came after his squad finally ended a four-game losing streak last night by walloping hapless West Germany 8-1.

The win was the first during the games for the Americans, who had lost four and were candidates for eighth and final place among the standings of the world's elite amateurs.

"This is the way they should've been playing all the time," he said. "I knew they could do it. Now I wish we could start the Olympics over."

Goal tender Pat Rupp of St. Paul, Minn., deserved a shutout on the strength of his performance in the nets. He stopped 26 shots, but let one by winger Lorenz Funk get by.

The U.S. took a 1-0 lead after 3:07 minutes on a screen pass by Don Ross of St. Paul and were never headed. But it was a four goal burst starting after 10:45 minutes of the second period that wrecked the Germans.

The U.S. squad can relax now—until Thursday at least when it meets East Germany—and watch the top men knock each other out of the medal running.

After one full week of round robin action, Sweden, Czechoslovakia and the powerhouse Soviet Union have won four matches each. Canada, always a medal possibility, has won three and lost one.

Doctor Discusses Exercise Needs Of Nation's Handicapped Youth

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Children with heart murmurs shouldn't be shunted aside in sandlot football, says Dr. James E. Nixon. He should know. He's physician of the Philadelphia Eagles' football team.

"Instead of putting all the emphasis on superior athletes, we should devote some time and attention to the individual who can't perform in rough competition," he said in an interview. "These are the ones who need some supervised exercise. Of course, youngsters with disabilities need to be watched by a doctor."

Dr. Nixon, who probably sees enough injuries in a single National Football League season to discourage most doctors, also has his hands full in the off-season.

He is chief orthopedic surgeon for the Veterans Administration Hospital and an orthopedic surgeon on the staff of Graduate and Children's hospitals.

Not to mention the fact that he is a father of nine children—aged 6 to 18.

Dr. Nixon, who is present at every Eagles' game, says he is responsible "for keeping my dancers dancing." In all, he says, he's had 15 years experience in the area of athletic injuries.

The old-fashioned "charley horse," commonly known as aches and pains in a young man's sports' life, can be a lot more dangerous than most people think, Dr. Nixon said.

"There is no diagnostic means of differentiating, immediately, between a simple charley horse and the more serious condition called, ossificans mysotis," he explained.

"An average charley horse clears up in a week or ten days. But some severe bruises can develop into ossificans mysotis. If these do not receive prompt, judicious care, they can result in muscle turning to bone. And these devastating hunks of bone can be quite disabling."

Marin Tars To Host Winless Napa Tonight

Forward Tom Stetson may have put the perfect exclamation mark on College of Marin's latest basketball loss after the Tars bowed at Sierra, 88-84 last Saturday.

"We've been on the road too long," Stetson said wearily.

The Tars just finished six straight games in Golden Valley Conference play. They started that road slate with just one loss and leading the Western Division by a hefty margin. They now have tail-spin of four straight losses and are tied for the Western Divsion lead with Santa Rosa.

The Tars will be back on friendly grounds tonight against what should be friendly competition when they entertain winless Napa (0-8) at Kentfield at 8 o'clock.

The Tars are still a cinch to land a spot in the Golden Valley Conference Playoffs which will probably be held at the home of unbeaten Siskiyous next Saturday.

Third-place Redwoods (3-7) has no chance to catch up with either Marin or Santa Rosa.

But just for fun, a lot should happen when Santa Rosa and Marin meet for the third time this year, this time at Kentfield next Tuesday in what will probably be for the Western Division crown.

Fairfax Man Tells Of Great Thrills At Winter Olympics

By BILL VELTE

GRENOBLE, France — Greetings, skiers of Marin County.

I truly wish wou could be here to hear ropes slapping the flagpoles flying flags of 38 nations, to feel the excitement of international sports competition and to be in the area of the finest skiers in the world.

This is a large, modern city with the French Alps jutting up from the outskirts of the city. With sharp eyes and ears, I have followed the events of the first week.

I have been able to see many athletes and their living quarters by riding along with a dry cleaning firm which serves the athletes. The athletes live in big buildings near the location of their respective events. There are six categories of events, therefore, there are six housing blocks.

One block I visited was for the ice hockey and skating teams. The nationalities are not separated. The building I visited housed Polish, Czechoslovakian and South Korean female ice skaters. I saw several girls riding bicycles in the lobby to keep in condition.

I was fortunate enough to spot two American athletes leaving their building. I introduced myself and wound up going into Grenoble with them to find a barber and a tailor. The men were on our ice hockey team. They told me about their few days in Grenoble.

GREAT EXCITEMENT

They are managing to sleep at night in spite of the great excitement. Their team of 18 members is practicing under heavy coaching until the last minute. The vigor of the training is reduced considerably, however. The only big restriction is on some European cheeses because of digestion problems.

The opening ceremony last week was the most moving and magnificent display I have ever seen in the world of sports. I actually fought tears for two hours. It will be matched only by the opening ceremony of the summer Olympics in Mexico.

THUNDERING CHEER

The high point was the entry of the runner with the torch which was carried by runners all the way from Greece. The runner ascended the long rise to the bowl. Before igniting the fuel in the bowl, he turned to the audence. A few seconds of quiet followed. Then he tipped the torch to the bowl, a large orange flame sprang up, and the people broke into a thundering cheer.

As the athletes entered in delegations, country by country, I noticed that no great favoritism was shown. The French delegation, however, was an exception. But in general, all countries were well received. I believe everyone was brought together by the joy of human excellence. Tensions between nations was completely overshadowed by the presence of one and a half thousand of the greatest athletes in the world.

Steelheaders Wailing, Moaning; Local Waters Yield Big Bass

STEVENS

There has been weeping and wailing and cursing by the steelheaders, native and visiting, over the sad state of affairs fish-wise.

The Garcia at Point Arena, one of the coastal streams that is first to return to normal after a stormy period, is, according to Claire Titus, in prime condition. But, "No fish—that is—steelheads. The river seems teeming with suckers, but practically no steelhead," said Claire.

A few fish have been caught in the Gualala recently, but very few. The Fort Bragg streams, the Noya, Big and Ten Mile seem to follow suit — lots of fishermen, few steelhead. The South Fork of the Eel is still high and rather badly colored; it will be several days of dry weather yet to make the long haul to Garberville and vicinity worth while.

THE RUSSIAN probably offers as good a bet as any of the streams north of the Bay Area; some fish have been taken by the experts upstream near Cloverdale.

No late report has come in from the northern streams like the Smith and Klamath.

Some of the smaller streams along the south coast have produced — mainly not far from the mouth or well back in the hard-to-reach areas, but it seems there are about 10 fishermen trying for each one landed.

IT'S A DIFFERENT story with warm water fishing. Clear lake has yielded some fair black bass angling for the tule dippers, but according to reports has slowed down somewhat. The local lads who went afield to try for landlocked steelhead in Folsom Lake have been doing quite well and best results have been close to shore. Bass fishing in Lake Berryessa was reported barely fair during the last of the week. No reports of trout or steelies from Berryessa.

LOCALLY, THE San Pablo Bay came through with some lunker bass the past few days.

Mrs. Edding of Buck's Landing waxed eloquent when she said: "We had a wonderful day on Saturday, 19 stripers from 18 to 29 pounds came in. Best action was near the Pump House and on the Flats. Leon Molinelli was only out for two hours but landed a nice 24 pounder, and a lady from Sacramento who often fishes with us, but whose name I can't spell offhand, brought in a 29-pounder. Fish took grass shrimp, ghost shrimp and bullheads, fastest action on both turns of the tide.

MUST BE very hefty stugeon hanging around the upper San Pablo. Several sad stories of the monster that got away. Maybe waiting for you to challenge them in battle.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Oakland Oaks, hoping a change of scenery will help them snap out of a three-game losing slump, take on Indiana tonight at the start of a brief American Basketball Association road trip.

Boycotted Track Meet Still May Be A Sellout

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Athletic Club indoor track meet Friday, which may be almost completely devoid of Negro athletes, is well on its way to being a sellout.

Though Negroes and many whites who sympathize with them are boycotting the meet because of alleged discriminatory membership policies, all but about 1,000 of the 17,800 available tickets have been sold, meet director Ray Lumpp said yesterday.

The latest entry list distributed by Lumpp contains a number of Negro stars, including some who have said they would not compete. Lumpp said, however, that none of these had officially withdrawn and unless he heard from them he assumed they were coming.

Lee Evans, the San Jose State quarter miler who has helped plan the boycott, has predicted that about 1,200 pickets will be outside the Garden and the New York police department said it had not yet completed plans to deal with any possible trouble.

Warriors To Host Powerful 76ers In Oakland Arena

The San Francisco Warriors, fighting to hold second place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, meet the powerful Philadelphia 76ers tonight in the Oakland Arena.

The Warriors are one game ahead of Los Angeles and a loss to the Eastern Division leaders, combined with a Los Angeles Laker victory at Baltimore, could create a tie for second.

San Francisco, with Nate Thurmond out for the season and Rudy LaRusso handicapped with an ailing back, goes to San Diego Thursday. Tonight's game starts at 8 o'clock.

JIM MURRAY

Modern Day Napolean On The Downhill Run

GRENOBLE—He needs a haircut, a lawyer. He speaks very bad English, hardly ever wears shoes.

He'd be a nobody at sea level or if the earth warmed up 10 degrees a year.

He was just a dot on the top of an alpine Friday afternoon but all France watched as if Napoleon had suddenly come on the horizon.

He was Jean-Claude Killy, bon vivant in bindings, an athletic Joan of Arc meant to lead France out of a self-esteem slump that began with a railway car in Compiegne and continued through a postwar period where a country whose golden eagle once terrified Europe found itself symbolized by the plucked chicken.

JEAN - CLAUDE Killy's specialty would bring furrows of nonrecognition to the brows of the gang at Shea Stadium, he would be passed over in an autograph session at Scranton for the No. 2-ranked welterweight contender — but he is the world's best at what he does. What he does is ride a pair of tapered-metal platforms down a precipice of snow where the friction is so minimal the man in the straps can go as fast as his nerve can carry him.

A WILD, reckless fellow who goes through life like the second lead playboy in a 1927 Warner Bros. musical — the one who's always driving the milk wagon into the lobby of the St. Moritz or who starts pouring bubble bath into the public fountains of Rome—Jean-Claude already has the scars.

He took the hill Friday with the kind of pressure Mickey Mantle might feel if he stepped in the box with the count 3-and-2. Koufax pitching, and the national honor riding on what he did with the next pitch. France, not exactly a spendthrift among nations, snapped the rubber band off the national wallet like a farmer in the city who tastes his first glass of champagne for this Olympics — and they looked to Killy to supply the propaganda to make it worthwhile. A mountain-bred boy who would rather ski than walk, he has seen three years of building pressures to the moment when he took the gate at the downhill and all France watched.

AS FAR back as '61 when Killy was still learning child's verses, he had been marked for greatness on snow. In those days, his furious charges down hills frequently ended 100 yards from the start where they had to dig him out with a shovel. He frequently went the wrong way through a slalom gate. But he was very fast between the falls, U.S. coach Bob Beattie ruefully recalls. You could see he was going to be good — like Sam Snead who hit a ball out of bounds 400 yards from the tee.

THE DOWNHILL is the Rose Bowl of Winter Olympics. It's the race the skiers respect most, the public recognizes easiest.

One hundred skiers entered but it was almost over as soon as the first man crossed the line. Guy Perillat of France by flipping down in 1.59.93. Since Perillat is 28, the critics began to wonder if maybe the snowplow might not be able to better the 1964 Olympic time on this course.

BUT PERILLAT'S mark stood up all the way until skier No. 14 took the slopes. Jean-Claude Killy whisked down in that peculiar French style of skiing which looks like a guy having stomach cramps. He beat Perillat by 8/100ths of a second which is a little bit like winning by a split decision where two judges vote for a draw or pulling out a game on a blocked point-after-touchdown. Still, who will remember whether it was 8/100ths or 800 seconds two years from now?

There were still 80 skiers on the slope but Killy began accepting congratulations at once. He was well-advised. He knew that treacherous piece of glass he had survived well. One American came down in a basket. Another hasn't come down yet. Billy Kidd came down just faster than he could walk, thanks to a sprained ankle. The feared Austrians seemed to prefer to arrive at the bottom late rather than never.

FRANCE, OF COURSE, was beside itself. It was not exactly France's national sport but at least it was one that could be televised worldwide.

And, in the best interests of international amity and doing my duty, I rushed to the finish line as Killy's time was announced. I was preceded by 50 million Frenchmen who can't all be cameramen. I was swept in the crush. Monsieur Killy, I cried, Je suis heureux de fair votre connaisance. Permittez-moi dintroduire moimeme . . . Alas! It was too late. Killy, no matter who that child belongs to, belongs to the ages. He hardly noticed me, a waif in his wake. They will doubtless hang an 8x10 glossy of him in the Louvre and his skis will be sent to the Pantheon. After all, who'd Napoleon ever beat in the Downhill?

San Rafael Gal Loses Net Match

Fifteen-year-old Sharon Walsh of San Rafael gave Cecilia Martinez of San Francisco, ranked 15th nationally among women tennis players, a run for her money in the first round of the women's Class One division of the Golden Gate Class Tennis Tournament Sunday.

Sharon finally succumbed, 3-6, 6-2, 3-6.

Kialoa Regains Lead In Acapulco Race

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Jim Kilroy's Kialoa II, sailing 136 miles between roll calls, has regained its lead in the 1,430-mile San Diego to Acapulco Yacht Race.

The 72-foot aluminum yawl from Newport Harbor Yacht Club, defending champion in the ninth biennial race, was 386 miles from the Mexican resort at yesterday's roll call.

Sunday's leader, Serena, dropped 46 miles behind Kialoa. Ken De Meuse's 83-foot schooner Serena from San Francisco is the scratch boat in the race which started Feb. 4 with 29 yachts.

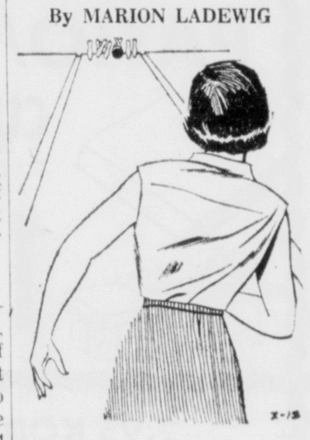
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



Resist the urge to throw the ball as hard as you can. Excess speed is harmful, for it prevents the ball from rolling and instead the ball skids into the pins. Splits frequently result. Unnecessary speed will usually cut down a bowler's accuracy as well. In an effort to race to the foul line, she loses the fine touch needed in a precise sport uch as bowling.

J. C. Brewster Out Of Race In Mill Valley

Joseph C. Brewster yesterday pulled out of the Mill Valley City Council election Apr. 9, leaving three candidates so far for three council seats to be filled.

Brewster, 59, of Manzanita Place, said he felt he could not devote the necessary time to the council post. In a prepared statement, he said:

"After considerable thought, I think it to be in the best interest of myself, my company and perhaps to Mill Valley if I do not run for councilman at this time.

"I wish to thank those who called offering their support and particularly those who took out and signed my papers. Perhaps at a future date, if you think a little Oklahoma country boy's judgment at council level would be good for Mill Valley, I will solicit your support."

Nomination papers have also been taken out for Jerome C. Hauke, Robert H. Andresen and incumbent George Wickham, but Hauke is the only announced candidate.

Mayor Albert E. White has announced he will not try for re-election, and incumbent Michael Wornum is running for First District supervisor.

Inmate Stabbed With Bedspring

John Miller Davis, a 21-year-old inmate at San Quentin, was stabbed with a six-inch bedspring at 2 p.m. Saturday, but the wound was not serious, reported Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

The stabbing occurred in the exercise yard of the adjustment center and officers have questioned a "possible suspect," Park said. Davis was treated at the prison hospital and returned to the center.

David is serving two life terms without possibility of parole for kidnaping in Riverside County.

Fairfax Mayor Pagni Out Of Council Race

Mayor George A. Pagni of Fairfax declared yesterday afternoon he is definitely not running for re-election to the city council.

He is running for the post of treasurer, not to get the job for himself but to turn the job over to some office person who is already employed by the city.

"I tried to make the job (of treasurer) appointive," said Pagni. The mayor said the job involves just signing checks, and an elective official is not needed for that duty.

He said he will run against Treasurer Dorothy A. McGlothlin, "and if I win, then I'm going to turn the matter over to the council so that they can appoint someone more from within the city office personnel."

The city treasurer's job is a part-time job that pays only $85 per month.

In announcing his retirement from the city council, Pagni explained: "I've given my all for city government for the past four years, and feel I should now devote more time to my career and my family."

African Statues Taken From Home

Loot valued at $1,160, including two African statues, was stolen Thursday from the home of Dr. Edward S. Ross, 57 Lee Street, Mill Valley, police reported yesterday.

Police said the burglar ransacked two bedrooms after smashing a window to reach an inside doorknob and let himself in.

Society's Bird Count Ranks High

The Marin Audubon Society's bird count teams turned in the third and fourth highest counts in the nation, at Tomales Bay and at Drake's Bay, in the National Audubon Society's annual bird census.

The counts were made in more than 800 areas across the United States and Canada during the Christmas holiday season.

The Marin counters spotted 194 species at Tomales Bay and 184 at Drake's Bay. They were topped only by San Diego, which set a new record of 209, and Cocoa, Fla., which tallied 195.

More than 10,000 professional and amateur ornithologists took part in the census.

Parts Stolen

A transmission and two heads from a motor valued at $265 were taken from the auto shop at Novato High School between 9:30 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday, Novato police reported yesterday. Entry was gained through an open window in the shop, police said.

Reagan Gets Control Of Fair Boards

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, through four appointments and one re-appointment, has assumed control of the California state fair and exposition board of directors.

The governor named Ralph A. Nissen, Colusa County agriculturist, who was appointed last year as president of the board, replacing Robert Setrakian, of Fresno.

Katherine H. Haley, Ventura, rancher, replacing Dorothee C. Mull, Sacramento.

The reappointment was Conrad J. Ferreira, 46, Redding, for a one-year term. He is owner of a Redding veterinary hospital.

Designation of Nissen as president of the integrated fair and exposition was considered a surprise in the capital as Reagan shortly after he took office last year, named Setrakian as president.

Nissen has had wide experience in fair activity, and is expended to make the final show of the old board, which will be held in August and September at the new state fair grounds, outstanding.

Eventually, the board of directors will be integrated with the new California Exposition, which will operate the new fair grounds as a quasi-public corporation.

Not All Afraid Of 'Being Involved'

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
34 EDITORIAL PAGE Tuesday, February 13, 1968

Disrespect for law and public apathy about lawlessness are drawing much well-deserved blame for what Theodore H. White has called "the smell of anarchy in the air" in America. But there are a few heartening evidences of a changing attitude, with youngsters leading the way.

For instance, two weeks ago members of the Hornet Society, a student service club at Novato High School, turned over to police two boys and a girl they had seen smoking marijuana on campus.

Last week, six 11-year-old boys who had already acquired the "pot" habit were rounded up in Terra Linda because an 11year-old classmate called sheriff's officers about them.

These youngsters — the high school Hornet Society members and the sixth grader who called the sheriff — were not afraid to "get involved" on the side of law and order. They set an example which should be emulated by their elders.

THESE TWO incidents could scarcely be regarded as the beginning of a trend. But they are not the only ones.

Some citizen "involvements" on behalf of law and order in San Mateo and Santa Clara counties were reported last week in a column in the Palo Alto Times by reporter Jeannette Bradley. Here are excerpts:

"An alert gas station attendant jotted down the license number of a car lurking around his East Menlo Park station and provided the clue Menlo Park police needed in solving a robbery.

"During the past year in Menlo Park and Atherton, police chiefs report, there have been more burglars caught and more armed robberies solved because of public action.

"THREE TELLERS at Bay View Federal Savings and Loan Association, undaunted by a previous armed robbery when they were herded into the men's rest room, played it cool when the same robber returned a second time . . .

"They calmly forked over the money, at the same time tripping a burglary alarm to the police station. When they saw Menlo Park officers approaching, they hit the floor in unison—just like in the movies—as they had previously rehearsed . . .

"In Atherton, several arrests have been made recently after residents called police and reported a suspicious person looking over a back fence or parking in the yard. Some of these arrested were booked for narcotics use and others for area burglaries."

THESE ARE HEARTENING signs. They are evidence that at least some citizens have come to realization that law is for the protection of all, and that police are powerless to enforce it without citizen cooperation.

It is especially heartening to see youngsters calling on the law, as in the two cases cited in Marin. From somewhere, they have got the message that "fink" is the criminal's term and that good citizens help protect themselves by helping the law.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Terror Plans Drawn By Black Militants

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The "battle plans" of black militants being studied by President Johnson's Commission on Civil Disorders are as foreboding for America as those captured from the Viet Cong in advance of their recent "terror attacks" against cities in South Vietnam.

These documents, now being circulated openly among black militant and Communist groups in the country, call for the creation of conditions for revolution and guerrilla warfare in major U. S. cities this year by the disruption of all types of public services.

The strategy provides for "massive action and propaganda campaigns" to convince both dwellers of the ghettos and persons living in the suburbs that "government on every level is ineffectual and helpless to act."

As an integral part of this campaign, black militant groups are being urged to "take control or form neighborhood organizations or institutions" to obtain funds for their "action programs" from the federal government, foundations, and national church organizations.

COMMISSION members are particularly interested in one document being circulated by Stokely Carmichael, the pro-Castro militant, and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

It bluntly states that "the insurrections last July have done what everyone in America for 30 years had thought impossible; mass action has convulsed the society and brought normal government to a halt.

"Militant blacks have stolen the center stage from the liberal elite, which is to say that the old order has been shattered. It is at once obvious that the period of greatest danger is just beginning in America."

Another of the Carmichael documents outlines how the so-called moderate and front groups are to be used to protect black militants and create chaos, stating:

"These groups will be used to demand that the huge amounts of money necessary for reconstruction of the cities be made available to neighborhood institutions as they emerge.

"They should insist that under no conditions should the local police, state militia, or federal forces be permitted to act like a conquering army. They should respond to any looting by calling for a 'free merchandise day,' throwing open the stores, and having the government reimburse the merchants."

EVEN MORE explosive is a document prepared by Robert F. Williams, a fugitive from North Carolina now living in Red China. It provides for the formation of "a tightly organized and highly mobile underground guerrilla force."

This document makes no secret of the eventual objective, stating:

"The American economy and its delicate and automated society cannot withstand any sustained and violent dislocation. Massive violent disruption would set off a chain reaction that would fragment the entire nation and usher in an all-consuming state of anarchy. Out of the ashes of anarchy and chaos, a new order would be constructed."

As a starter, Williams says, there must be formed a "welfare corps" and "an efficient intelligence network" to prepare the way.

Mission of the "welfare corps" would be to disrupt government functions, train agitators, provide care for those injured in riots and demonstrations, and raise funds to provide legal assistance "before the legal system is completely paralyzed."

The "intelligence network" would link up all black militant organizations throughout the country. It would also be used to set up control units that would gather and stockpile weapons for guerrillas.

MOST ALARMING part of Williams' "battle plans" calls for organizing of clandestine "fire teams." Their mission is described in these chilling terms:

"The most aggressive and irrepressible arm of the overall organization would be the fire teams. They would work in complete secrecy and would be totally divorced in the organizational sense from the main bodies of defense and other forces. They would enjoy complete autonomy. The group's only tangilbe loyalty to them would be in time of distress.

"The fire teams' mission would be sabotage. Hundreds of these groups would be organized throughout America. These teams would consist of from three to four persons. They would know only the members of their immediate team. They would not identify with the civil rights movement and would appear to be apathetic and even Uncle Toms.

"They would oftentimes masquerade as superpatriots and be more than willing, in a deceptive way, to cooperate with the police. There would be no official meetings and discussions, only emergency calls and sudden missions."

One of the sabotage tasks of these teams, the setting of strategic fires, was described as follows:

"While unsparingly setting the torch to everything that belongs to the enemy in the cities, these teams would not neglect the rural countryside. Fires would be started in the rich timber resources and among crops and in rural factories."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

State's 'Savings' Keep Digging Into Pocket

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — These days the woods are full of claims that the state government is effecting, or is going to effect great "savings" to the taxpayers through various economies and revisions of operational procedure.

How much of this ballyhoo is political buncombe, and how much is legimate statement of fact isn't very well defined.

What is well defined is the fact that the taxpayer, instead of benefitting from the so-called "savings" this fiscal year is paying a billion dollares more in taxes than he did the year previously. None of the much-flaunted "savings" is being reflected in out-of-pocket exepnditures.

NO DOUBT the ordinary citizen who reads about government "savings" or potential savings will begin to wonder about April 15 why some of these claims aren't reflected in his income tax bill, which in thousands of cases will be increased more than 100 per cent.

No doubt he wonders why, if all these "savings" are anything more than political propaganda, he pays five, instead of four cents on every dollar he expends for goods upon which a sales tax is levied.

No doubt he also wonders why, if there is so much "saving" going on in government, he expends 10 cents for the state tax on every package of cigarettes he buys, instead of four cents.

EXAMPLE after example of this type of situation could be made, but there do not happen to be any examples of where the "savings" are reflected in the amount of out-of-pocket cash money the taxpayer is forced to dig up to maintain state government.

The opliticans and administration, including Gov. Ronald Reagan, have a ready answer for this conundrum that besets the California public.

It seems that "savings" have nothing to do with cash money which comes from the pocket of every citizen of California. They affect, apparently, only the cash money the citizen will have to disburse from his meager income in the future, which might be less because of the so-called "savings." Take note of the "might be" as it's a matter of history that taxes have gone up and up, rather than down a little, if the face of claims that government is "saving" the tax dollar.

THE RECENT report filed by the governor's survey on efficiency and cost control claims "savings" can be effected in virtually every facet of state government it studied. When added up these would amount to $233 million, assuming that all of its 2,000 recommendations would be effectuated, which is not likely.

But a good question is what does this mean to the California taxpayer? Assuming that government did "save" $233 million in operations, how would the taxpayer benefit if his taxes are not reduced?

The only benefit the taxpayer gets — and this is not a firm benefit —is the hope that his taxes won't be raised in the future.

3 MINUTES A DAY

LOVE SHOULD BE "ALWAYS"

In 1925 Irving Berlin published the song "Always." It has been popular ever since.

Its basic theme is that love should be distinguished by sincerity and understanding that is for "always."

The closing refrain of the song accentuates the idea that love should be permanent and timeless —that it should be "not for just an hour, not for just a day, not for just a year, but ALWAYS."

While practically everyone wishes to be loved endlessly, too few of us in turn show a willingness to love our fellow men in fair weather and foul, through thick and thin — forever.

In attempting to perfect our love for others and make it more enduring, we would do well to imitate the "always" love that the Creator Himself has for each of us.

No matter how changeable and inconstant we may be, the Lord is a loving Father to us always. He expects us to care for one another with the same lasting love with which He loves us.

(Jeremiah 31:3)

Grant, O Lord, that I love others with the same constancy with which You love me.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

Improve Quality As Well As Pay

(Reprinted from Valley Independent, Monessen, Pa.)

School teachers in Pennsylvania appear to be planning a one-day strike to dramatize their efforts for increased pay. Of course, they aren't calling it a strike — a term which rubs many teachers the wrong way. Instead, the anticipated walkout will be described by another name — perhaps a professional seminar or a professional holiday.

Whatever artifical title is used, the fact remains that teachers are becoming more militant in their demands for higher pay and seem to be prepared to go to some lengths to achieve their objectives.

In recent years, the salary of teachers has improved rather dramatically. But even with these improvements, teachers have barely caught up with the pay of white collar workers and they are nowhere near receiving the compensation enjoyed by professional people with whom they like to identify.

The reasons for the relatively low pay scale are complicated and not nearly as simple as some of the teachers make them out to be. It just isn't an open-and-shut case of a miserly public being unwilling to pay for teaching services. . .

RECENT rounds of salary increases have done little, in our view, to improve the quality of classroom instruction in the mid-Mon Valley. There are still too many incompetent teachers who aren't worth the pay they were drawing 10 to 15 years ago, let alone their present salaries. Yet, no one seems prepared to offer means of weeding out these incompetents.

To a large extent, in our opinion , the teachers are responsible for this intolerable situation. Far too many have cloaked their own inadequacies under tenure guaranteed by the School Code and their colleagues have refused to blow the whistle. As a consequence, pay raises have gone to good teachers and poor teachers, alike, without distinction.

MOREOVER, teachers have perpetuated the myth that they are equipped to train young people as soon as some college "certifies" them in a given subject. Right now, the Charleroi School District is embroiled in an ironic twist to the treasured assumption that certification is the name of the game. A veteran teacher has been assigned to instruct a class in which he is "certified" but in which he maintains he is not qualified to teach. This case, it appears to us, points up the absurdity of the notion that a teacher is able to teach a given subject because he has a certificate to that effect. . . .

While the PSEA and other teacher groups put the pressure on for more pay, we wish they would do something about these incompetent teachers as well. Better pay may be one way to improve education, but getting rid of the loafers is another way, too.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Read Huxley, Attend Meetings

Editor, Independent-Journal:

All Americans who love this country better prepare themselves for a fight because those "Americans" who don't love this country are fighting against it now. Thanks to the Supreme Court, Communists can work in defense plants. Communists don't have to register any more; they even appear on national television and on the radio bragging about their accomplishments and goals in this country.

Absolutely nothing could shock me now. Hippies can carry filthy posters around tax supported colleges and sell pornography to young kids. Poverty programs can be crammed down your throat whether you want them and need them or not. Taj Mahals can be built and stocked without asking the people who have to pay for them. Able-bodied men and women are receiving welfare while old people are being forced out of their homes.

Even the schools have gone to pot; teachers are smoking it; schools invite psychiatrists and professors etc. to speak on drug abuse yet when you get there you hear such things as pot is an antibiotic and just because LSD is dangerous, are we not even going to try it? Children are being asked to keep diaries at school about what goes on at home. Fifth graders are asked for their opinions on draft card burners; independent study classes are allowing the students to choose what they want to study. In many schools report cards are becomeing a thing of the past — being replaced by parent-teacher conferences to analyze the parents etc.

I suggest you good Americans who are paying for all this garbage read or re-read Huxley's "Brave New World" and Orwell's "1984"; then for God's sake (or your kids' sake if you are an athiest) get off your rears and attend few meetings around the community.

Olympics Great; Not So, Disputes

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Several days ago your sportswriter wrote an article about his assignment to cover the Olympic Games. Yesterday (Feb. 6) an article by Milton Richman appeared, commenting on the opening phases of the games. Either article was hardly designed to inform and report the events the Olympic Games are about.

The games were conceived as an idealistic idea and unfortunately idealism is sustained very rarely. There is no reason, though, for us to participate in the squabbling and bickering. And certainly arguments over advertising and publicity for sports equipment should not cause us to be indignant, when every ballplayer here peddles anything from tooth paste to hair oil.

Nobody even faintly interested in sports can deny that the events at the Olympic Games are exciting and exhilarating. We are watching the best in their fields competing. I am sure good reporting of the sports events and less emphasis on the secondary happenings will do better service to the idea of the Olympic Games.

THE CAPTAIN of the cruiser made a lamentably faulty maneuver within full sight of his admiral, and waited in dread for his well-deserved dressing down. To his relief, the admiral's prompt message read merely: "To Captain Cruiser. Good. Admiral Flagship." Five minutes later, however, this second communique reached him: "To Captain Cruiser. To previous message, please add the word 'God.' Admiral Flagship."

A VISITOR to a New Mexico reservation noticed that every time a pretty girl ankled by, one grizzled Indian puffed extra hard on his pipe and muttered, "Chance." "How come?" the visitor finally inquired "I thought every Indian said 'How.' Why do you say 'Chance?' " To which the Indian replied succintly, "Me know how. Just want chance."

Some Suggestions For New Novato Beautification Committee

When the proposed City of Novato beautification committee gets organized, it can find a few examples of what has been done to incorporate in its suggestions for beautifying the city.

A tour of San Marin Drive shows what beautifully landscaped islands in the middle of a street can do to upgrade an area. The city has two other such landscaped islands on Sunset Parkway in Lynwood and Monte Maria.

The city has done a good job making the islands on Highway 101 things of beauty when they used to be ugly eyesores.

San Jose Boulevard has such an island, but generally it is kept up by the residents along each side of it through Raphael Village. The upper end, near San Jose Junior High School, could use some city work.

Ignacio Boulevard also has an area which could be planted and made beautiful.

ELM COURT has a row of beautiful trees down the center. During winter and spring, there is green grass along the base of these trees which neighbors mow. The city could install blacktop curbs and plant the areas with grass or ice plant.

Reichert Avenue also has a row of trees down the center, and blacktop curbs could make a planting area there that would support ice plant and add another strip of beauty to the city.

All of these would just be islands in the city, but they would be a major step in improving its looks. When the committee is formed, it will undoubtedly have many more such suggestions.

THE NOVATO Chamber of Commerce board has gone on record of favoring another vote on a street bond issue.

This can be done within six months by modifying the last request, which got a majority of votes but failed to gain the necessary two-thirds or the city can wait six months and resubmit the same plan to the voters again.

Since the streets and park bonds for $8 million failed, many people have expressed the opinion that th park bonds were the cause of failure of the street bonds.

The Novato street bonds drew 55 per cent favorable vote. It will be up to the council to decide whether the chance to pick up another 11 per cent favorable vote is worth a second try.

Though Death, Disaster Loom, Don't Damage The Antenna

One black and stormy night during the first days of the Great War, over a boiling angry Caribbean sea in a single-engine airplane with fixed landing gear, I though we, my radio man Bill Nagel and I had 45 minutes to live.

As any pilot will tell you, ditching a single engine land plane in a wild, wind-lashed, rain-driven stormy sea at night is not conducive to a prolonged life.

We had been assigned to cover a convoy which was making a race out of Trinidad along the island chain to get through Anegada Passage. Enemy submarines lurked among the islands waiting like lip-licking, gleeful barracudas. Our orders were to stay with the convoy until dark, then return to our base on the island of St. Lucia. To do this meant we had to stretch our fuel supply to the utmost. We didn't take into account the coming storm; we didn't know about it. In those days, and in that part of the world, weather bureaus were unheard of. So with adverse winds and the maneuvering around thunderstorms and with no radio stations to guide us, we were out of fuel from our main tanks and had just switched to our reserve tank, giving us exactly 45 more minutes of flying.

I'M NOT TELLING this story as a suspenseful tale nor to entertain, but simply to point to one particular part of that incident which, curiously enough, has stayed with me down through the years. So let me tell you this quickly . . . We did crash, we did end up on a rubber raft and we did manage to make shore . . . a week later.

So much for that.

During those 45 minutes, anticipating the worst, I reached behind me to pull the rubber raft out of its compartment which was between Bill, who was in the rear seat, and myself. I found that the raft, though it was small and properly rolled, couldn't be brought forward through the tiny door that was behind my seat. So I instructed Bill to drag it out the back and have it ready in case we ditched.

I waited a moment or two but the yellow rolled-up raft didn't move. I craned by neck to see what the delay was. Between him and the raft there was a loop antenna and it was preventing him from dragging the raft through. I was jolted . . . Bill was industriously trying to dismantle the antenna with a screwdriver.

"What the hell are you doing?" I roared.

"Taking the antenna out!"

I can still see the look of surprise and revelation on his face reflected in the dim glow of the instrument lights.

"Yeah!" the look said. "Of course! Why didn't I think of that?"

So he gave a healthy tug and the antenna tore free. He tossed it over the side.

Later, in the raft, I asked him about it. He grinned sheepishly.

"You know," he said, "I didn't want to damage that antenna."

SINCE THEN I have thought often about that episode. It seems to me it is applicable to so many situations in our daily lives. Here he was, concerned about damaging the antenna even though we would, in a few minutes, lose the entire airplane.

How easy it is to become confused and involved with the unimportant at the expense of the important!

Chief Justice Is Sued In Official Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert I. Schramm, legislative aide to Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., filed suit yesterday against the Supreme Court of the United States.

He wants an order directing Chief Justice Earl Warren and T. Perry Lippit, marshal for the court, to clean up some vacant lots now leased by the court and which adjoin Schramm's home.

It's the first time in history, as far as Schramm knows, that anyone ever has sued the chief justice in his official capacity.

Schramm filed the suit in U.S. District Court here but said that, if necessary, he is prepared to carry the case clear up to the Supreme Court where, he concedes, the going could be a little sticky.

The suit specifically names as defendants Chief Justice Warren in his capacity as chief judicial officer of the court and Lippitt as an officer of the court. Also designated as a defendant is the Marlow Coal Company of Washington, owner of the lots.

Men's Clothing Prices Concern Consumer Adviser

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Betty Furness, presidential adviser on consumer affairs, today cited a sharp price rise in men's clothing and asked clothing-store operators "to examine your business method with care and with conscience."

Miss Furness, addressing the Menswear Retailers Association, said it reported the sharpest price increase in 20 years. She said much of the increase is due to higher costs.

But, she asked: "Are you passing the increased costs along to the consumer with a wave of the hand and a larger markup? Or are you dealing with it as an industry problem that may perhaps be solved by trimming here and there, by adopting new methods, by understanding that the markup of 10 years ago may not be realistic in today's market place?"

Sheriff Plans Posse Of 1,000 For Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—Cook County Sheriff Joseph I. Woods plans to have at his disposal this summer a 1,000-man, gun-carrying posse to cope with any racial disturbances and the threatened trouble at the Democratic National Convention.

Woods said the task force, especially trained for riot duty, would be made up of men recruited from service clubs and, he hoped, comprised of equal numbers of whites and Negroes.

The sheriff said last night that his office would mail out letters today to various organizations appealing for recruits.

Although Woods said he would like to have the posse racially balanced, when asked if he would go ahead and form the posse if he could not acheieve such a balance the sheriff replied:

"Yes because I think I'm going to need the men."

Murder Suspect Found Dying

SALINAS (UPI) — A man awaiting trial for the sex-murder of his 11-year-old step-daughter committed suicide in his jail cell yesterday, according to the Monterey County Sheriff's Office.

Jail guards said they found Allen Levi, 34, sprawled in his cell, semi-conscious and bleeding from his mouth and nose. He died two hours later at a hospital, where an autopsy showed he took an overdose of tranquilizers.

Levi had been scheduled to go to trial Feb. 26 for the kidnap, rape and murder of his step-daughter, Cherly Ann Legg, on Oct. 25. He later led deputies to her body near Highway 198, about 15 miles southeast of King City.

Accident Victim Corrects Address

Motorist Norman J. Gray, 38, who ran off the road and into a brick wall at 814 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard last Thursday night, reported today that he lives at 270 Cardinal Road, Mill Valley, not 39 Cole Drive, Marin City, as was originally reported.

Gray said he swerved to avoid an oncoming car which had moved into his lane to pass.

Long Locks Trip Hippie Postmen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two hippie mailmen have been stayed in their appointed rounds. Hair tripped them up.

They have been handed enforced leaves of absence without pay until they trim their beards and hair-dos to lengths acceptable by the San Francisco post office.

Charles W. Harper, spokesman for the post office here, said the boom is being lowered on hippies in advance of expected specific regulations from Washington.

AIDE STARTLED

The crackdown was inspired by a visit last month by Assistant Postmaster General Richard Murphy.

Murphy's eyes popped when he saw some of San Francisco's 18 hippie postmen delivering the mail in long beards, hair way down below the neckline and other insignias of the turned-on, dropped out generation.

Murphy went back to the capitol and announced that hippie mailmen would have to shape up with neat attire and hair-dos.

COMPLAINTS CITED

Harper said complaints had been coming in from residents in all areas of the city about shoeless, straggly bearded, psychedelic young men delivering the mail. Another 100 hippies have jobs inside the post office.

"It isn't all one-way," Harper said. "One woman wrote, 'I do not care if an ape delivers my mail, so long as I get it.'"

"They are very intelligent," Harper said. "You might describe them as intellectual dropouts. We have very little ground for turning an individual down if he's on top of the list after taking his examination."

Most of the 18 hippie mailmen have gotten conventional hair-trims, Harper said.

KEEP SHOES

"They'd put their shoes in the relay boxes on the street, the ones that say 'not for the deposit of mail,'" Harper said. "Or they stick them right in their satchels."

Thief Takes $33,550 In Plush Hotel

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — Police searched today for "a highly skilled professional" thief who robbed a Chicago couple couple and a Canadian businessman of $30,250 worth of jewelry and $3,300 in cash.

A complicated set of master keys was used to gain entry into two rooms at Gene Autry's swank Ocotillo Lodge yesterday, while the occupants were relaxing at a hotel pool, said police.

Julia Dry said the most valuable pieces missing included two platinum rings — one with six large diamonds valued at $10,000.

U.S. Aide Predicts Bus Commute Revival

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A federal official said today he believes commuters can be induced to start using buses again.

Charles M. Haar, assistant secretary for metropolitan development of housing and urban development, noted that a test, called "Blue Streak," is being conducted in Seattle, Wash., to determine the feasibility of using separate freeway lanes for buses.

He said buses are using exclusive on and off ramps, reversible private lanes and operating nonstop for up to eight miles at a stretch.

In a talk prepared for the American Road Builders Association, Haar said the test will cost $1 million.

He said such a bus system would allow people to move "easily, comfortably, efficiently." He added that it could reduce air pollution and be safer than present transportation methods.

"We are most interested in the outcome of this test as it represents a real first step of marrying public transportation to our freeway system," he said.

Haar noted the HUD is aiding cities in building or repairing transit systems by providing matching funds. A total of $315 million in matching grants has been provided since 1964, he said.

Land Leasing To Be Viewed

Jumping Bean Restaurant Inc. wants to lease the two-acre property. William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, said the directors will discuss the length of the lease and other terms of a possible agreement.

Bay Search Resumes For Crashed Jet

OAKLAND (AP) — A search was resumed at daybreak for the remains of a Navy jet trainer which crashed into the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

Visibility was reported very poor for divers in the 40 to 50-foot depth of San Francisco Bay into which the plane plunged after smashing into a cantilever section of the bridge on the Oakland side of Yerba Buena Island

One girder was badly dented as the plane hit the fog-covered truss section of the bridge. The main section of the craft plunged 175 feet into the bay, but debris sprayed over the upper deck and San Francisco-bound traffic was stalled for hours.

373 Philadelphia Sub Teachers Flunk Test

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Despite special tutoring at federal expense, 373 of Philadelphia's 508 long-term substitute teachers failed to pass an examination for certification, the School Board reported today.

"The fact that three-quarters failed to pass, even after training, is not encouraging," said the board's research division. The training lasted five weeks.
